4-FOR-75c BUS FARE APPROVED FOR SEATTLE

SEATTLE (AP)—Seattle's financially hard-pressed City Transit System announced Saturday fares will be boosted to four for 75 cents, or 18 cents apiece, next Sunday. They have been 3 for 50 cents.

The boost follows the recently-announced 14-cent increase in operators' hourly pay. No changes will be made in the present 20-cent cash fare.

Last Oakalla Escapee Recaptured by Police

CP and BUP Dispatches

VANCOUVER — The last of four armed convicts who shot their way out of Oakalla prison farm Friday was recaptured early today.

Robert Lewis, 24, serving a 10-year sentence for bank robbery, gave up without a struggle when three police officers cornered him in a west end alley.

He had one cent in his pockets, was still wearing prison clothing, and was "dirty and exhausted," police said.

His capture, less than 60 hours after he and three others broke out of the suburban prison, ended one of the most intense manhunts in recent Vancouver history.

At the peak of the hunt, shortly after Lewis, John Wasylenchuk, Harold Coulter and Carl LaVictoire escaped, more than 500 prison guards, RCMP and other police were in the search.

GAVE UP QUIETLY

Wasylenchuk surrendered early Sunday to RCMP officers. He was spotted standing on busy Kingsway street by Oakalla employee Roland Uncle.

Police tracked him to a bush where he gave up quietly.

Wasylenchuk was dressed in clean warm clothing and had recently shaved.

He told police he huddled underneath a pile of lumber as police, prison guards and an RCMP tracking dog swarmed within a few feet of him Saturday.

Coulter and LaVictoire were captured, also without struggle, less than an hour after their Friday afternoon escape.

Lumsden Married; Marilyn Maid of Honor

TORONTO (CP)—Clifford Douglas Lumsden, long distance swimmer who splashed to $25,000 in prize money in the 32-mile Canadian National Exhibition marathon swim last summer, was married Saturday in suburban New Toronto.

His bride is Joan Christina Cooke, the girl who cheered him from his boat during the grueling swim.

Long distance swimmer Marilyn Bell was maid of honor at the wedding held in Century United Church.

Engineers' Strike Closes 2 City Mills

9 in Hospital After Week-End Car Crashes

Six Injured In Collision

Six persons injured in a grinding, head-on accident early Sunday in Saanich were among nine persons hospitalized in a rash of week-end accidents.

Most seriously injured in the Saanich crash at Gorge and Harriet was 17-year-old Beverly Jones, 2575 Blackwood.

Hospital authorities reported 53 stitches were required to close facial cuts the girl suffered. She was reported in "good" condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today.

DRIVER CHARGED

Driver of one of the cars, Kenneth Nelson Kerr, 1705 Ross, who escaped uninjured, was remanded to Thursday without plea in Saanich police court today on a charge of criminally negligent driving. He is free on $500 bail.

Others injured in the spectacular crash were:

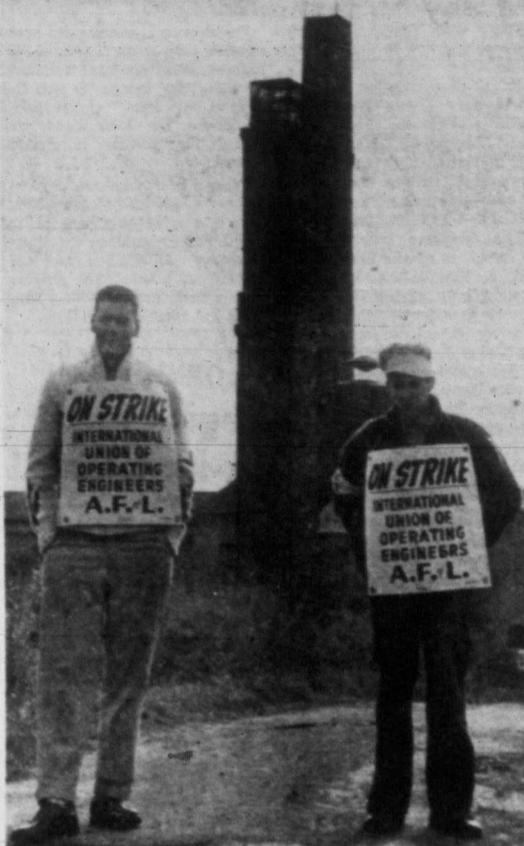

Miss S. Buttrey, 1960 Ash, lacerations, facial cuts and shock. She is also in "good" condition at hospital.

Mrs. A. Rawcliff, Amity Duncan, Saanichton, shock, leg abrasions and a bump to the head. Her condition is "good."

Pearl Murray, 1902 Fort, neck injury, shock and lacerations. She is in "good" condition.

Lorne Saunders, 989 Island Highway, cuts, bruises. He is also in "good" condition.

Treated and later released from hospital was Isabel Saunders, 989 Island Highway. The two mills employ seven engineers. (Times Photo.)

Vancouver Bandits Rob Midtown Bank

VANCOUVER (CP)—A lone bandit grabbed $3,000 from the Robson and Granville Royal Bank of Canada here today and escaped amongst downtown lunch-hour crowds.

The holdup in the heart of Vancouver's downtown business district was the second in two banking days. Friday a gunman took $7,500 from a suburban branch of the same bank.

No gun was seen in today's holdup. The bandit carried a newspaper over his arm to simulate a disguised weapon.

15-MINUTE START

The robber gained a 15-minute break on police when the bank's alarm system failed to work.

The man thrust a note demanding money into the teller's cage. He was described as about 24 years old.

WIRE BRIEFS

Execution Delayed

QUEBEC (CP)—Execution of Wilbert Coffin, 44-year-old prospector convicted of slaying an American hunter, was postponed today from December 2 until February 10. It was the seventh stay of execution in one of Canada's most unusual criminal cases.

Plans have been laid for a radar fence running down the coast of Labrador and the east coast of Newfoundland to the vicinity of Cape Race, southeast tip of Newfoundland.

This chain would be one of the coastal flanking lines for the main radar network in Canada. Actually it would be a southern extension of the now-building Mid-Canada line which stretches roughly along the 55th parallel from Labrador into the Peace River area of Alberta.

Cost of the new line is not known but it would be considerably less than the $170,000,000 being spent on the Mid-Canada line.

It is understood that Canada is willing to pay for this fourth line on the same scale as for the Pine-tree network, which extends across most of southern Canada. Canada paid one-third and the United States two-thirds of Pine-tree.

Ford Family Quits Motor Firm Control

Shares Worth Billion Dollars To Be Sold To Public; Family Share Cut to 40%

NEW YORK (UP)—The Ford Motor Company made plans today for the first public sale of more than $1,000,000,000 worth of common stock in the family-owned automobile empire.

The Ford Foundation, which owns 88 per cent of the company's securities, announced it will put 6,952,293 Ford shares on public sale in January.

Sixty per cent of Ford's voting stock would be sold to public investors. The 40 per cent retained by the family still will give them "working control" of the company. Many huge U.S. corporations are controlled by a considerably smaller percentage of voting stock.

The announcement was hailed as "a landmark in the history of public ownership" by Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange. It was the first time the investing public was offered a voting share in the company since the family gained exclusive control in 1929.

SHARES SPLIT 21-1

The plan calls for a recapitalization which would reclassify the present 3,495,040 shares of company stock. Of these, the family owns 172,645 shares of common stock. The remaining 3,322,395 non-voting shares are divided among the Ford Foundation, 3,089,908; the family, 190,347, and Ford executives and key employees, 42,140.

Under the refinancing plan the 3,322,395 shares of non-voting stock will be split on a 21-for-1 basis.

The reclassified 53,461,470 shares would be divided into 39,396,293 non-voting shares and 14,065,143 shares with a single vote each. Public investors would own 6,952,293 new voting common shares.

$2 BILLION IN ASSETS

The Foundation gave no clue in its announcement of the value of the new stock or the total worth of the company. At the end of 1954 the company had total assets of $2,089,820,000. Last week Ford board chairman Ernest R. Breech said the company's 1955 earnings before taxes are expected to surpass Ford's total earnings for the 21 years prior to Second World War.

Thousands See Queen Honor War Dead

LONDON (Reuters)—Amid solemn silence, broken by the occasional sob of a bereaved wife or mother, the Queen placed a wreath at the base of the cenotaph in Whitehall Sunday as Britain honored the dead of two world wars.

Other wreaths were placed there by the Duke of Edinburgh, the Duke of Gloucester, Prime Minister Eden, Labor party leader Clement Attlee and Commonwealth representatives including Canada's Norman Robertson.

Then the shrill notes of the Last Post, played by trumpeters of the RAF, cut through the grey autumn mist.

The thousands packing the broad street leading to the Houses of Parliament joined in the traditional armistic gay hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past," as the Bishop of London, Dr. John Wand, conducted the service of remembrance.

From a nearby balcony Princess Margaret, Queen Mother Elizabeth and other members of the Royal Family watched the simple ceremony. All but Margaret were dressed in black. The princess wore a dark fur coat with a small black hat touched with white.

'Comeback' Begins for Ex-Premier

PARIS (Reuters)—Pierre Mendes-France took a mighty stride along the political comeback trail Saturday when he was elected vice-president of the Radical party by the party's congress here.

His election represented a clear-cut triumph over his opponents, who include Premier Edgar Faure, in the middle-of-the-road party.

Ailing elder statesman Edouard Herriot, who has strongly supported Mendes-France in the past, was returned as president of the party after his resignation last year.

Former Editor Dies

'Ike's Not Only Your Guy-- He's Ours', Monty Tells U.S.

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower climbed his first steps since his illness Saturday—and a close comrade of Second World War called him "a very valuable man" to the world, in the White House or any other color house.

Two old soldiers, the President and British Field Marshal Lord Montgomery of Alamein, discussed world problems for 40 minutes Saturday. "And I reckon," the field marshal told a news conference afterward, "that he looks better today than I have ever seen him look."

Disclaiming any implication that he was pushing for a second term for Eisenhower, Montgomery remarked that Eisenhower is valuable to the universe because he visualizes in a global way the "vast problem" of the split between the Communist East and the anti-Communist West.

"He's not only your president," he said, "and you value him highly in the states here, but we value him very highly in the world—terribly high . . . 'Ike's not only your guy, he's our guy."

Whether he meant to or not, Montgomery supplied heavy reinforcement for Republicans who want the chief executive to run again in 1956. And reporters told him he had given them the best political story they had had here since Eisenhower's heart seizure.

In response to a question whether Eisenhower would be of equal value if he were not in the White House, the field marshal smiled and parried: "I should think Ike would be

EISENHOWER TO QUIT? 'NUTS' SAYS SECRETARY

DENVER (AP)—James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, Saturday scoffed, "nuts," at the idea that President Eisenhower might resign before serving out his term.

Hagerty was told at a news conference there has been speculation that Eisenhower might resign before Jan. 20, 1957, if he decides against seeking re-election.

Hagerty replied he could comment on that in "two words and you can take either of them—'No' or 'nuts'."

38th Birthday Of Revolution Marked By Reds

Zhukov Stresses New Peace Policy

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Defense Minister Zhukov said today Russia is striving "to strengthen peaceful co-operation and confidence between states by deeds and not by words."

Marshal Zhukov addressed the traditional parade of massed troops in Red square in Moscow on the 38th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. Moscow radio broadcast an account of the observance.

The announcer said a heavy bomber, which he described as an "airborne battleship" escorted by jet fighters, led a flight of planes across the sky.

Huge guns with bright silver barrels brought up the rear of the 25-minute military parade.

Military observers believed they were of 280-millimeter calibre and capable of firing atomic shells.

"It's foreign policy, the Soviet government is guided by Lenin's principle of peace co-existence and continues to struggle for the cause of peace," Zhukov said.

"The USSR does not forget there are circles in certain countries which strives to wreck the cause of peace. The Soviet people can be sure that the personnel of our armed forces will continue to defend the national interests of our Socialist motherland and the peaceful labor of the people."

Zhukov, whose personal talks and correspondence with President Eisenhower has raised some hopes of a starting bridge of understanding between East and West, spoke in much the same vein as the first deputy premier, Lazar Kaganovich, who addressed a Bolshoi Theatre audience on the eve of the celebration.

Kaganovich said the so-called "new look" in Soviet diplomacy was not just a gesture but a serious campaign to improve international relations.

WESTERN STAND A FIASCO

He said Western nations must realize that their policy of acting "from a position of strength" was a fiasco and that the time has come to engage in amicable negotiation on world issues.

Soviet proposals at the Geneva conference, he added, were "aimed at achieving real security."

"We did not fight the last war in order to rearm Germany," Kaganovich continued. "We want to see Germany restored—but it must be a peace-loving Germany."

CITY CONTRALTO SCORES IN LONDON

'Among the World's Greatest' Says Critic of Irene Byatt

BY SYLVIA HACK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Irene Byatt, one of two Victoria sisters in London, has been described as "one of the world's great contraltos."

The assessment came from a music critic of the Daily Mail. Irene was also singled out for greatness by the late Kathleen Ferrier, the well-loved British contralto who died in October, 1953.

Miss Byatt came here in 1950 to study under Miss Ferrier's teacher, Roy Henderson. Her sister, Florence, a former champion British Columbia swimmer, has been with her for the last six months and they plan to return to Canada in December.

Slowly, but surely, Irene has been making a name for herself as a lieder concert singer. Her first flowing press notices followed a concert at Wigmore Hall.

"Her voice, full, powerful and rich, is perfectly produced and has an amazing wealth of tone color," said the Daily Mail. The Times and other newspapers also praised her.

This concert was sponsored by Baroness Schroeder, a member of the famous banking family, who is so impressed with Miss Byatt's voice that she has given her a bursary to study under the Norwegian baritone, Sinding Larsen.

Her meeting with Miss Ferrier the 29-year-old singer said in an interview: "Not only was she one of the kindest people I've met, but she was my ideal in the world of music."

Her ambition is to appear in opera one day, particularly Wagner.

A professional singer from an early age, Miss Byatt has sung in Canada and her main recreational activity is going to other concerts.

Florence, a Toronto office worker, has attended every one of her sister's concerts.

IRENE BYATT... impresses London.

since she arrived in August. In 1940, she held the B.C. free-style swimming title. Like her sister, she's a six-footer.

Both plan to travel back to Canada around December and will visit their mother, Mrs. Mary Byatt, at 631 Superior street, Victoria.

Meanwhile, a concert tour is being arranged for Irene across Canada, and later she hopes to organize one for Australia.

Saanich Faces Garbage Fee Increases

Garbage collection fees may be increased in Saanich as a result of collection costs.

Loren McNutt, garbage collector, has informed Saanich health and welfare committee he is operating on a deficit.

The present fee is $5 a year for a twice-monthly collection. Twenty-six collections are made a year at each home.

Mr. McNutt reported to the health committee that expenditures for a new truck and equipment, plus increased operating costs, will make it impossible for him to remain in business, unless the fees are raised.

MORE RESIDENTS

Increase in population made it necessary to hire extra men and buy additional equipment, he said.

Committee chairman S. W. Brock said an investigation into the cost of garbage collection is being made.

"We will make a report to council as soon as we receive a complete financial statement from Mr. McNutt," he said. "There appears to be no doubt that costs of operation have gone up during the past two years."

Man Killed As Ice Snarls Manitoba Cars

WINNIPEG (CP)—Southern Manitoba highways were coated with ice during the weekend as freezing rain Saturday turned to snow.

One motorist was killed and two others were injured as traffic became snarled on the icy highways. Killed Saturday was Jacob Braun, 40, of Grunthal, Man., whose car collided with a truck at Niverville, 20 miles south of here.

New Morocco Violence Kills 10, Wounds 40

RABAT, Morocco (Reuters)—Ten Moroccans were killed and 40 Europeans and Moroccans injured by terrorists Sunday as a new wave of violence swept Morocco in advance of Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef's return to the throne he left two years ago.

Seven Moroccans, including a police inspector, were murdered in pistol and grenade attacks in Casablanca alone.

Two young French soldiers were injured when a grenade was thrown at a military post in the Arab quarter of Casablanca.

In Agadir, a port in south Morocco usually free of terrorism, one Moroccan was killed and 20 persons, including four Europeans, were injured when terrorists threw a grenade among a crowd at a fairground and followed up with pistol fire.

Swim Record

TORONTO (CP)—Sarah Barber of Brantford, Ont., set a Canadian record for the 200-yard breaststroke for girls under 17 when she swam the distance Saturday in 2:31.4.

The former mark of 2:34.4 was set two years ago by Lenore Fisher of Ocean Falls, B.C.

The swim was held at the central Ontario swimming championship meet.

There is a belief among western governments that Molotov is nearing the end of his long career as the Kremlin's foreign policy chief. The name of D. T. It is known that Mr. Phibly had Communist associations at one time.

Foreign Secretary Macmillan added, however, there is no evidence that Phibly tipped off Donald Maclean and Guy Burgess that they were under suspicion before they fled behind the Iron Curtain in May, 1951.

Giving a report to the House of Commons in the case described by some British newspapers as a "major scandal of the 20th century" Macmillan said: "Although the circumstances are explainable in terms of a tipoff, there was not necessarily a tipoff. A serious and protracted investigation into this possibility has been undertaken and is proceeding even at the present time."

Phibly was first assistant secretary in Washington when Burgess and Maclean fled. He was security officer in the British embassy there when Burgess was called home.

EDEN VISIT TO RUSSIA 'CERTAIN'

GENEVA (AP)—Sir Anthony Eden informally has promised Soviet leaders he will visit Russia some time after their trip to Britain next spring, diplomatic officials reported Sunday night.

The prime minister was said to have given this undertaking to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev during informal exchanges at the Big Four summit conference here last July. The informants said it was arranged that the Soviet government would extend an official invitation to Eden when the Russian leaders visit Britain in the spring.

Soviet sources attending the current Big Four foreign ministers conference said they assume Eden, accompanied probably by Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and officials, will come to Russia within a year after Russian leaders visit Britain.

Bulgarian and Khrushchev are expected in Britain next April or May. No firm date for the first official visit of Soviet government leaders to Britain has yet been announced.

The informants said it is not yet known whether the Soviet foreign minister—at present Vyacheslav Molotov—will come along with Bulgarian and Khrushchev. They noted these two Russians have made or have arranged trips to other countries without Molotov and so they presume that unless, by next spring, Russia has a new foreign minister, Bulgarian and Khrushchev will be accompanied by aides rather than by other members of the government.

Diplomat-Spy Case Still Under Probe

LONDON (AP)—The government said today that Harold Phibly—former foreign office official named as "third man" in the Burgess-Maclean spy case—was known to have Communist associations at one time.

Musicians' Union Supports UBC School of Music

Establishment of a School of Music at the University of B.C. is being supported by the Musicians' Mutual Protective Union, University officials said today.

A resolution passed by the union, local 145 of the American Federation of Musicians, was presented to the university Board of Governors this week, along with resolutions and requests from numerous other organizations and individuals throughout the province.

During early establishment of a School of Music were the Vernon Branch of the B.C. Registered Music Teachers Association, Quota Club of Vancouver, Kelowna Branch of the Okanagan Valley Musical Festival Association, and the Kelowna Business and Professional Women's Club.

TALENT IMPORTED

The musicians' union briefs the need for "provincial facilities for advanced training of artists... to meet the public demand for television" and the fact that "symphony orchestras requiring professional instrumentalists are now importing talent."

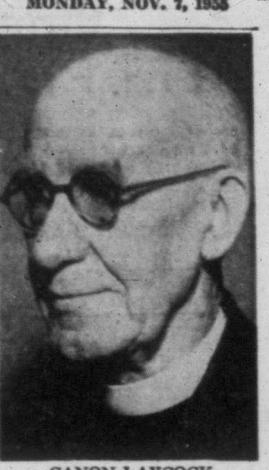

The brief also said: "The present situation in this province tends to discourage a career in music and students of promise must travel thousands of miles from home to enter institutions for advanced training."

"Does the foreign secretary regard this as a matter of significance in the circumstances of the case?" asked Morrison.

Macmillan replied: "I have no reason to believe that they have left this country. I should think it is very improbable that they have."

Cathedral Pulpit To Be Explained

Well known here for his long association with Christ Church Cathedral from its inception, Rev. Canon E. P. Laycock, will speak in the Memorial Hall Thursday at 8 p.m. concerning a new oak pulpit recently installed in the cathedral. The pulpit was designed by the canon, who supervised its carving. He will explain the various motifs and coats-of-arms with which it is adorned.

The Pessimists

THE THREE OPPOSITION PARTIES in the Canadian Parliament are doing their best to make a boom look like a depression. The speeches of Conservative, C.C.F. and Social Credit leaders, now touring the back concessions, all seem to agree that the nation is in pretty bad shape.

It can be cured only by a Conservative policy, not yet announced; or by a socialist policy never clearly defined; or by a Social Credit monetary policy which many leading Social Crediters like Premier Bennett obviously regard as absurd.

Unfortunately for the opposition parties, the facts stubbornly refuse to conform to these dire warnings. According to the latest figures of the non-partisan Bureau of Statistics, Canada is now completing by far the most prosperous year in its history.

Our gross national product—the total measurement of our production and consumption—should reach the record peak of $26,250,000,000. When Mr. Harris assumed last spring that this figure might be a billion dollars lower than that, the opposition parties denounced him forreckless optimism. It was commonly said that he had over-estimated our probable wealth for purely political purposes.

Now it is clear that Mr. Harris erred on the side of pessimism. His expectations have been greatly exceeded. After this record Mr. Harris will hardly be accused of excessive optimism when he predicts another year as good as this, or better.

Again, the Government's critics

TRIBUTES FROM THE BENCH and bar have indicated the high esteem in which the late Judge H. H. Shandley had been so widely held.

New Menace in the Middle East

THE EVIDENCE NOW IS CLEAR that the Egyptian arms deal with Moscow is much more than a mere sale of weapons. There is every indication that it is a major political effort by the Kremlin to win a place of influence in the Eastern Mediterranean.

In so doing, the Russians are following a historic pattern. The Czars had an age-old urge to win warm-water ports in the south. Yet always a girdle of smaller nations has stood in the way.

More important, Britain has always felt its interests threatened by any such incursion. The traditional British lifeline of the Mediterranean, while of less direct importance in this day of air travel, is still vital strategic principle. This area, for instance, contains Western air bases which could become atomic launching grounds if needed.

Part of the defence against a Soviet threat to the Middle East today was to form the northern tier—a chain of alliance running from Turkey through Iraq and Iran to Pakistan. While this system had military logic, it has been used politically by the U.S.S.R. as an excuse for southern intervention.

The Soviet Union refuses to recognize such a grouping as defensive, but terms it an aggressive threat. In any case, such reasoning has been used to bolster the current diplomatic drive on Egypt and other potential Middle East purchasers of communist arms and the influence that goes with them.

Forty-Five Years Since the 'Rainbow'

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO day HMCS Rainbow steamed into Esquimalt—the first ship of Canada's newly-created navy at this Pacific base.

The old vessel, purchased from Britain, established its place in history—a potential shield, however thin, against the German raider Leipzig, which incidentally it never engaged during the First World War.

The Rainbow is remembered now as something of a museum piece, at one time the subject of light local pantomime songs, and the tired hulk which lived out its final years beyond the service in no glorious role.

But it was the infant Canadian Navy on this coast, unpromising as it may have seemed. And today that Navy has occasion to look back on a spectacular development from the humble beginning.

A national force of 20,000 officers and men, of modern and effective ships and shore installations which in this region alone run into the millions of dollars, it has reason for pride.

Recently, senior personnel watching manoeuvres in the Strait of Juan de Fuca, had occasion to note that the ships carried more men afloat—and these from Esquimalt only—than Canada had in all branches of the service before the Second World War.

Today marks the anniversary of the Rainbow's arrival. As the occasion is observed, thoughts will turn to the tradition which has grown since 1910—a tradition enriched by the Battle of the Atlantic, of action in the Mediterranean and the invasion of Normandy, with incidents of heroism on other oceans and other seas.

In its navy, as elsewhere, Canada can see the muscles of increasing maturity.

Confusing Signals

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I DON'T know how you feel about hearing what somebody else had for lunch. This is the sort of thing I usually hate hearing, myself. I'd just as soon hear about somebody's latest trip to the doctor, with a complete list of his prescribed medicines and how he is reacting to them. The heck with it. But the other day I had a letter from a chum in England, and when he told me what he had for lunch I was downright fascinated.

He was lunching in a pub near his office. The pub is called The Running Footman and is in Charles Street, in Mayfair... some of you may know it... I have an idea I've been there myself, though I can't be sure.

It was in or near Charles Street that my wife went to see a Canadian doctor who was reputed to charge Canadians only ten shillings, which in those days was $2.50. But she made the mistake of wearing her new fur jacket. It cost only about $100, but it looked like $1,000... until it was dry-cleaned, when it turned purple, and then it looked like something from a rummage sale. But on that day in Charles Street it still looked very like $1,000, so we got charged about twelve times ten shillings.

A FAMOUS doctor once said it is a great mistake to wear shabby clothes to the slums when you are a duchess doing a charity work or a social worker doing your job. The people in the slums are offended by this, and very properly so. Nor will they envy nice clothes. This theory may be a good one. But it is a great mistake to wear costly-looking clothes to the office of any stranger who is trying to match his bill artistically with your background.

Where were we? Oh yes, lunch in Charles Street. Well, just outside the pub where he was lunching my friend heard the unlikely sound of bullets being fired. It isn't far from there that the highwayman Shepherd made his famous escape, but Shepherd has been dead, a long time... though the iron posts are still there to impede his horse in the narrow passageway, in case he ever comes back.

SO MY friend rushed out into the street, his mouth full of lunch, which is a lot better than having your heart in your mouth. And there he found that two jewel-robbers had been shooting it out with some cops who had cornered them. Two cops were shot, and were just being packed away. I don't know if the police were armed or not. They didn't use to be, in England, but times may have changed enough to make gunfire outside The Running Footman very usual.

As Our Readers See It

HELL

The recent letter by L. T. Pepper is humorous to those who understand what the Bible "Hell" really is. But to those who believe that there is a hot place with the Devil as manager and superintending the torture, it is tragically distressing.

The Hebrew word translated "Hell" in English is "Sheol"; the Greek is "Hades."

When the popular King James version was translated in 1611 Hell was an everyday word, meaning to conceal, hide, bury (in country places in England one can still hear men talk about helling-up their potatoes). As proof the K.J. version translates the word "Sheol" as "grave" in Genesis 37:35. It translates it 31 times as grave, 31 times as hell and three times as pit—interchangeable words. Add just one quotation from very many, Ecc. 9:5, "For the living know that they shall die; but the dead know not anything."

FRANK H. KEVEREN, ACIE, 51 Kiwanis Village.

SIKORSKY'S WORDS

In reply to Mr. Staverman, the words intuition and hunches were not mine but Sikorsky's. The point is that God caused Daniel to prophesy—God-given knowledge itself—that knowledge would be increased at the time of the end of the era, and now we have Igor Sikorsky trying to explain how he has received knowledge in an extraordinary way, and then Professor Julian Huxley attributing the great world revolution we are in to what he calls the astonishing increase of knowledge.

Regarding the struggle against internal forces: It was for that reason that Jesus died on the cross, to redeem man, who is not able to redeem himself, but man has to do his part in acknowledging His atonement for our sins, and seeking His help in being renewed in knowledge after His image (Colossians 3:10).

In an article on extra sensory perception, Jan. 11, 1954 Life book, Aldous Huxley tells of encountering an influence which in his words is not always spiritually and ethically desirable, or even neutral, and says that there are sometimes inspirations of pure unreason and radical evil. Just such an influence was dealt with in the casting out of demons, by Jesus and His disciples, and Revelations xii, 12, aptly describes the state of things today.

MISS E. FRANCE, Sidney, B.C.

FIVE NONDESCRIPT PERSONS

May I enquire why you pick out five nondescript persons—who evidently take no interest in model yacht racing—to give their opinions on model yacht basin now in process of completion at Holland Point, Saanich?

These people whose opinions appear in your issue of 29/10 have probably never heard of, or seen (or have they?) the Round Pond in Kensington Gardens, London.

don, where can often be seen middle-aged and elderly men sailing their model yachts or trying out their model steam-boats or electric launches, etc.

I would suggest Mr. Editor, that you obtain another five opinions, of those who are interested in model yacht racing.

As for the expense entailed in constructing this pond—Saanich is a wealthy city, and can well afford it, although I regret to say that in some cases their money is not always wisely used. In this case, however, it should provide a recreation for both young and old.

WALTER W. JOSEPHS,

1707 Lee Ave. (Ed. note—People interviewed were not hand-picked to give a negative reply on the value of a model yacht basin. They were five individuals chosen to secure a cross-section viewpoint on the issue.)

MUNICIPAL MANAGER

Judging by calls and questions received there appears to be considerable interest in my suggestions to a municipal manager for Saanich. Therefore, with your permission, I would like to elaborate a little more on the suggestion.

First I suggested that Saanich consider the advantages of the council manager system of administration. To do this it might be well to form a representative committee from all sections of the community.

This committee might be composed of representatives from the council, business groups, ratepayers organizations, trade unions, senior citizens' groups, PTA, church groups, clubs, farmers, dairymen, and in fact any who felt they could contribute something to the deliberations. The findings of this committee could be made public and a plebiscite then held. The people have, as is only right, the final say in a vote.

Saanich, with a budget of around $2,900,000 is really big business, and it seems logical we should have a responsible manager as any other large undertaking.

The expense would be about half cent per dollar of the budget. Again it seems logical we should spend half cent to assure that the other 99 1/2 cents are well used. This relatively small expenditure would save us that sum many times over in increased efficiency, professional advice and long term planning.

This has been the experience in Victoria where even the most violent opponents of the manager plan are now its enthusiastic advocates.

HAROLD TODD, 1402 Andrews Rd.

END HALLOWEEN

Re Victoria's "stinking rowdiness" on Halloween—I couldn't agree more with Mrs. Cash.

It should be done away with all over the Province. We suffer badly from the same sort of licence in the interior too.

(MRS.) CONSTANCE MACDUGALL, Sorrento, B.C.

Middle Eastern Appraisal

BY WALTER LIPPmann, from Washington

ALTHOUGH it has been known since June that Egypt was talking with the Soviets, the deal itself has in fact proved to be a surprise with which Britain and the United States are unprepared to cope.

What has surprised us is not so much the purchase of arms as the sudden appearance of the Soviet Union as a great power in the Middle East. This is a part of the world which the Russian empire, Czarist or Communist, has never before been able to enter.

After all that has been done to "contain" the Soviet Union by the series of pacts set up on its southern flank, the Soviet Union has jumped right over the whole containing structure and has landed behind it, has landed at the strategic center of the Mediterranean and the Middle East. She has entered Egypt just as the British are leaving it.

The heavy arms shipments to Egypt have undoubtedly aggravated the danger of an Egyptian-Israeli war. But there is no reason to think that the Soviet Union wants such a war, or that it could afford to let such a war happen.

COULD NOT STAND BY

For no matter what Mr. MacMillan and Mr. Dulles think it expedient to say about a guarantee, the fact of the matter is that Britain and the United States, and indeed the great majority of the United Nations, simply could not stand by and let Egypt and its allies, armed by the Soviet Union, crush Israel.

The Western powers have no choice but to intervene to stop such an aggression. The Soviet Union would then be faced with the necessity of deciding whether to abandon its new ally, Egypt, or to risk an incalculable conflict with the West.

The real problem is not this threatened war, which the great powers must—and which they can—prevent. The real problem is that the Soviet Union is by way of acquiring a diplomatic base in Egypt.

The political effect of the arms shipments is to buy the influence of the Egyptian army, which controls the Egyptian government. Beyond the arms deal lies the project—not as yet consummated it would appear—of massive Soviet economic assistance to build the great dams on the Nile River. If this project goes through, there will be no doubt at all that Egypt has been drawn into the Soviet orbit.

Whether we like it or not—and of course we do not like it—the Soviet Union will now be present and participating on equal terms in the diplomacy of the Middle East. She has very strong cards.

She is able to incite and support nationalist passions which are predominantly anti-Western. She has reserves of obsolescent arms with which to win over the local army leaders. She is ready to take the agricultural surpluses of these primitive economies in payment on easy terms for industrial equipment.

And being herself the shining example of an under-developed country which has developed itself quickly, she knows how to talk the language of the politicians, the intellectuals and the technicians of the under-developed nations.

What is about to happen in Egypt should cause us to make an agonizing reappraisal of our own policy. For the Communist way is to use force and is less humane. But for that reason it is cheaper. Nevertheless, it too requires capital funds. But the Soviet Union can trade these funds against the agricultural surpluses of cotton and rice which the under-developed countries cannot sell in the Western world.

All this seems to have escaped the attention of Mr. John B. Hollister who is in charge of the U.S. Foreign Economic Aid program. For at the very moment when the Soviet Union is advancing in the Middle East, Mr. Hollister has turned up with a public declaration of his hope that he may be able to help Secretary Humphrey do some cheese-paring on foreign economic aid.

Way Down Yonder...

(This is the first of a series of columns on a recent foray into New Orleans and parts of Occupied Texas.)

ONE of our popular North American legends is that the three most exciting cities on this continent are Montreal, San Francisco and New Orleans. Few Canadians would deny Montreal's place in this select company. San Francisco, with its cliff-hanging eyries and Golden Gate sunsets, doubtless merits the compliment.

But is it true what they say about Dixie?

Now listen to your daddy: it is. After two weeks in the land of bayous and banana trees, I return home full of grits, chitlins', shrimp remoulade and unabashed admiration for New Orleans, which they like to call "The City that Care Forgot."

The traveler will readily perceive that Montreal, San Francisco and N'Orleans have certain common attractions. Each is close by an important body of water, bringing strange cultures from the four corners of the earth. Each has a prominent French or Latin quarter. Each has achieved a remarkable co-existence between piety—as represented by statues of historic churches—and sin.

And each—seh!—has its distinctive cooking.

In New Orleans, which has at least a dozen restaurants as good as Antoine's ("a tourist trap," the cabbies say), they raise the lowly flounder to a dish worthy of the gods by stuffing it with delectable crabmeat. They will serve you "oysters Roosevelt" like you've never tasted before—hot in the shells, and topped with a creamed-spinach sauce. They can do things with hot egg-plant which approach a black art.

Over candle-lit tables at a place called Brennan's they will hand you an implement like an eyelash curler so that you can bathe down the snails and pluck out the delectable meat, to be dipped in an exquisite sauce. At La Louisiane, home of "Diamond Jim" Moran—who was Huey Long's bodyguard and who has $10,000 worth of gems in his teeth and eye-glasses—a couple may pay $18 for a dinner of meat-balls. The meat-balls, egad, are made from frit and surrounded by noodles in a Creole sauce!

At a tiny, tile-floored place called Tujague's they will give you, without a menu, an eight-course dinner for $3. Across the street, in the market-square, the after-theatre crowds gather to drink thick Luziane coffee with a hot, powdered pastry they call "Doughnuts." (No hole.)

After dark, almost everyone gravitates to Bourbon Street, which must surely be one of the most fabulous thoroughfares in the world. It has something for everybody. The student of architecture could spend months examining the fine, filigree ironwork adorning the old Vieux-Carre homes, most of them converted to restaurants, apartments, or honky-tonks.

For six or eight blocks Bourbon resounds to the uninhibited growls of raucous cornets, delineating the pure Dixieland jazz of Louis Armstrong and po' ol' Bix. At a hundred gaudy traps tough-looking barkers hawk their attractions, opening the doors invitingly so that passers-by may get a peek at the semi-nude wigglers. Around the corner, a couple of boys who advertise themselves as "The Two Starving Artists" will do your portrait in pastels for $3.50. Colored shoe-shine boys dance jigs for dimes; sailors rub shoulders with society folk in white ties and pink, roaming the street in an endless quest for high-priced antiques.

In all this din, there is one oasis of quiet which has become renowned throughout the country. Off the street is the patio-style Court of Two Sisters, where it is possible to dance under TWO MOONS—one authentic, and one supplied from a camphor tree—to the diuet strains of a piano, bass fiddle, violin and vibraphone. It has positive therapeutic value after a session at Pat O'Briens' ratskeller, where an amazing woman called "Mercedes, the New Orleans Hurricane," sits at a piano, tosses back endless potables, and sings raffish songs in a voice that sounds like a cabbage-scraping.

But New Orleans is no longer the sleepy, old-massa town of magnolia and mint juleps people imagine it to be. It abounds in stylish new office buildings. As the gateway to Latin America—whose population now equals that of the United States, and before long will double it—it is a bustling commercial centre whose facilities can't match the population growth.

The result is that, in New Orleans today, you wait for almost everything: for your hotel rooms, for your elevators, for your table in the restaurant.

One final word. In that 85-degree heat, you should never wait in a tweed suit purchased in Victoria, B.C.

Cougars Roll in High Gear; Stamps Lead Eastern Section

Victoria 6, Seattle 9.
Westminster 9, Saskatoon 0.
Vancouver 3, Regina 2.
Calgary 6, Edmonton 3.

BY BILL WALKER

SEATTLE, Wash. — If it wasn't problem enough for Seattle coach Billy Reay to get his biggest Western Hockey League crowd of the season here Saturday night, the Victoria Cougars wouldn't recognize it, and care less.

In one of their most convincing displays of the season, the Cougars trounced the Americans 6-0, and undoubtedly left Reay wondering how he's going to get the 3,069 fans back again.

His Americans were that sluggish in defeat.

Two former Seattle players contributed much to the rout.

Doug Macauley, now the Cougars' leading pointmaker with 17, fired his seventh and eighth goals of the season, while goalie Marcel Pelletier, who also once called Seattle home, was disdainful of Seattle's best efforts in recording his second shutout of the season whilst taking the lead in the goalies' averages race.

But Macauley wasn't the only two-goal performer of the evening. Skip Teal got a pair to go with a tally against Saskatoon Friday for a three-goal weekend; and rookie centre Don Chiupka sniped his second and third goals of the season.

Most notable aspect of the rash of goals was that all scoring points but Macauley's two goals came from other than the usually pre-eliminating unit of Macauley, Colin Kilburn and Doug Anderson.

Macauley's goals came while his mates were off the ice.

SKIP TEAL
... fires two goals

It was, in effect, a cumulative type production against Seattle.

Teal fired his first counter in the first period on a rebound from Bill Davidson's long shot. Macauley and Chiupka doubled up in the second period, and the final three goals came in the third frame.

Macauley's first goal was set up by Eddie Olson's crisp pass from behind the net, netminder Charlie Hodge being beaten with a high shot. Chiupka's counter came as the improving youngster was put clear by Wayne Brown and Davidson at 14:25 and caught the rigging with a low shot.

In the third period the Americans strove valiantly to escape a whitewashing and in doing so left themselves wide open for reprisal.

The Cougars were quick to oblige.

Nelson Bullock made the key play to give Teal a clear shot, for his second counter at 11:42; Bill Dobbins' interception of a Seattle pass and his perfect feeding pass to Macauley left goalkeeper Charlie Hodge undefended for the blazing shot that followed at 13:30, and Chiupka had almost as clear an opportunity when he got his second at 15:04.

The Americans played in fits and starts, their most concerted drive coming in the final period as the Cougars sought to preserve Pelletier's shutout.

Speaking of the return game here Tuesday night with the Cougars, coach Reay of the Americans suggested "to win we have to skate, and you'll be sure we'll be skating

... rookie comes through

Previous to Saturday's defeat by the Cougars and Wednesday's loss to the Royals, the Americans had won four straight.

"We got to get those fans back," said Reay. "To do that we have to win."

Tuesday they may be without the services of Ollie Doherty who has suffered an arm injury.

Meanwhile, around the WHL circuit, some surprising things occurred.

In Westminster, the Royals suddenly snapped out of a fitful lethargy to wallop Saskatoon 9-0, with Gord Fashoway getting three goals and one assist, Blinky Boyce adding to his scoring lead with one goal and three assists, and centre Bobby Love of that unit accounting for one goal and two assists.

In Edmonton, the Calgary Stampeders scored three goals within five minutes of the third period to defeat the league champion Flyers 6-3, and take over undisputed possession of first place in the eastern division.

In Regina, the Vancouver Canucks scored three times in the first period and then hung on to edge the Royals 3-2.

Goalie Lucien Dechene of the Regals was a standout despite playing with an injured knee and being pressed into service after rookie Cliff Dobson was injured when hit on the head by the puck, early in the first frame.

After playing host to the Americans Tuesday, the Cougars meet the Stampeders here Friday, travel to Westminster Saturday and host the Canucks here next Monday.

U.S. Golfers Keep Ryder Cup

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The powerful United States Ryder Cup team defeated Britain Sunday to retain possession of the famed international golf trophy.

NEW WINGER DUE

Ray Ceresino Joins Cougars On Trial Basis

Victoria Cougars will have a 10-day looksee at Ray Ceresino, a left or right-winger, who played 12 games with Toronto Maple Leafs in 1948-49.

The 26-year-old 160-pounder has not been playing this season and will be in Victoria on a trial basis.

The much-traveled winger has been with Pittsburgh of the American Hockey League, the Maple Leafs, Cleveland Barons, of the AHL for five seasons, Seattle of the Pacific Coast League, Providence of the AHL, and Montreal Royals of the Quebec Hockey League.

Ceresino had his best season with Cleveland in 1952-53 when he scored 58 points in 64 games. He has never had more than 22 minutes in penalties in any of his seven years in pro hockey.

Tommy Bolt started the onslaught with a 4 and 2 win over Christy O'Connor, and Capt. Chick Harbert followed up with a 3 and 2 decision over Sydney Scott.

Doug Ford came on to score a 3 and 2 victory over Harry Weetman, and Jack Burke Jr., won from Harry Bradshaw, 3 and 2.

The Britons won with Eric Brown defeating Jerry Barber 3 and 2; Arthur Lees over Marty Furgol, 3 and 1, and Jacobs' upset over Middlecoff.

In Saturday's Scotch foursome matches Fallon and Jacobs defeated Harper and Barber, one up; Sneed and Middlecoff defeated Rees and Bradshaw, 3 and 2; Ford and Kroll trimmed Brown and Scott, 5 and 4, and Burke and Bolt weathered a tight match to edge Lees and Weetman, one up.

OIL KINGS WIN

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Oil Kings defeated Regina Pats 10-7 Sunday to move with one point of the first-place Saskatchewan club in the Western Junior Hockey League.

SOCER FANS RIOT

Youth Shot in Head; Referee Assaulted

NAPLES, Italy (BUP) — More than 100 fans were hospitalized today as the result of the worst riot in Italian league soccer history which was touched off by a referee's decision.

Police were forced to open fire with carbines and throw tear gas bombs to disperse fans who were incensed over a decision rendered by referee Aldo Maurelli during a game between Naples and Bologna yesterday.

During the rioting, a pistol shot entered the mouth of Ciro Adamo, a 20-year-old fan, and came out through the back of his head. Also listed in critical condition was Umberto de Francesco, 39, who lay near death with severe stomach injuries.

Maurelli was kicked and punched by fans after he awarded a penalty shot to Bologna which allowed it to tie the game, 3-3, but managed to run to the safety of the dressing rooms with the help of police protection.

From the start of the game, many of the 40,000 fans present showed their displeasure over Maurelli's decisions. Their feelings were heightened by the fact that Maurelli is a resident of Rome, and Naples and Rome have a soccer rivalry similar to that of the Dodgers and Giants in American baseball.

The players found the extra money in their final cheques issued Saturday after the Riders had defeated Toronto Argonauts 36-24 here.

Alberni Cagers Win Pair

Alberni Athletics two-timed the Pacific College Jayvees at the weekend in Alberni, rallying to defeat the Seattle team, 6-6, Saturday, in the second game of their exhibition basketball series.

On Friday night, Alberni cake-walked to an easy 93-55 victory.

It was a different story Saturday night as the aggressive collegians dominated most of the game, controlling the ball and the backboards and holding the Canadian champs to a 16-46 deadlock with eight minutes left. A late scoring surge by the A's salted the game away.

Ratterman Gets Chance to Shine

CLEVELAND (AP) — George Ratterman emerged from the shadow of Otto Graham Sunday as he pitched Cleveland Browns from an 11-point deficit to a 24-14 National Football League victory over New York Giants.

The former Montreal Alouettes quarterback who has been second-string to the great Otto at the last three seasons after a year at Dallas enjoyed his finest hour after taking over in the second period when Graham suffered a head injury.

At the time the Browns were trailing 14-3, Ratterman tossed 15 passes for 163 yards and two touchdowns and wound up an 80-yard drive by running the end for another touchdown.

The victory tightened Cleveland's hold on first place in the eastern division of the NFL.

Washington Redskins moved into a share of the runner-up spot behind the Browns in the eastern conference, defeating Philadelphia Eagles 34-21. That left the Skins with a 4-3 mark. Pittsburgh Steelers are in the same fix after losing to Chicago Cardinals 27-13 Saturday night.

BEARS RUN WILD
In the western conference, Chicago Bears looked like the big, bad Bruins of old, shellacking Green Bay Packers 52-31. The Bears, who gave the Packers a break after leading 45-3 at the end of three periods, piled up a net gain of 508 yards — 16 short of the NFL record — in their fourth straight triumph over three defeats.

Los Angeles Rams took over sole ownership of the western lead, coming from behind in the second half to smack San Francisco 49ers 27-14. That gave the Rams a 5-2 record and dumped the 49ers, who could have made it a four-team tie for first place with a victory, to a 3-4 standing.

The Bears jumped onto a share of second place with Baltimore of the season, with the Browns the first game of the season.

Not once did the Bears have to punt only the third time in league history any team has managed to punt off that stent. And they gave George Blanda the opportunity to pile up seven conversions, running his string of extra point placements to 130 without a miss. Blanda also contributed a 38-yard field goal.

Ti-Cats Trounce Als; Argos Bow to Riders

By The Canadian Press

The Big Four football season, with nothing at stake but prestige, ended Saturday with a humiliating assault on the league's top passer and the best performance of the year by the cellar club.

Hard-charging Hamilton Tiger-Cats successfully muzzled Sam "The Rifle" Etcheverry as the Tabbies swamped the first-place Montreal Alouettes 28-6. Last period Ottawa Rough Riders, who ended the season with only three victories in 12 starts, looked like a powerhouse team in downing Toronto Argonauts 36-24 before about 10,000 fans at Ottawa.

The games made no difference to the eastern loop's final standings which were decided a week earlier. Argos go to Hamilton next Saturday to take on the second-place Ticats in the Big Four semifinal. The winner advances against the Als the following week in Montreal in a game to decide the East's Grey Cup representative.

In the senior intercollegiate circuit, University of Toronto Blues earned a playoff berth against the league-leading Queen's Golden Gaels with a 38-6 trouncing of the hapless University of Western Ontario Mustangs.

McGill Redmen, who needed a victory coupled with a Toronto loss to nail down a playoff spot, got neither. The Redmen were defeated 12-7 by the Gaels to end in third place.

Lou Kussnerow, Johnny Fedosoff, Ron Howell and Jerry Sazio scored Ticats' touchdowns. Steve Onekirk booted a field goal. Ray Truant converted three touchdowns and Cam Fraser scored two points when J. C. Caroline conceded a safety touch. Caroline was the lone Montreal scorer and Bud Korchak converted.

Argos had one consolation out of their loss. End Al Pfeifer picked up nine points on a touchdown and four converts to win the Big Four scoring race with 98 points, three ahead of Pat Abruzzi.

Canadian end Bobby Simpson led the Rough Riders' scoring parade with two touchdowns, one on an interception by Pete Karpuk who lateraled to him. Argos' Ray Curtis matched Simpson's effort.

McGill Redmen, who needed a win to clinch a playoff berth, were upset Saturday 25-6 by Illinois in one of the major reversals of the Big Ten Conference football season.

Ranked No. 3 in last week's Associated Press poll of U.S. college teams, Michigan was clearly outplayed by a team which had previously won only one of its four conference games.

Meanwhile, Michigan State, with Earl Morral running 90 yards for a touchdown, moved into a second-place tie with Michigan by defeating Purdue 27-0.

Ohio State, 20-13 victors over Indiana, leads the Big Ten but is not eligible for the Rose Bowl this season since it went last year.

Thus, Michigan, which earlier in the season defeated Michigan State, needs victories in two remaining conference games against Indiana and Ohio State to assure itself of a Rose Bowl trip. Should Michigan lose one of those games while Michigan State defeats Minnesota next Saturday the trip to Pasadena will go to State.

UCLA, No. 5 team in the country and favorite to win the Pacific Coast title and Rose Bowl berth, walloped College of the Pacific 51-0.

Notre Dame, No. 6, had surprising difficulty in the first half against winless Penn before riding to a 46-14 victory. With Frank Riepel, Penn sophomore, running 105 yards for a touchdown on the opening kickoff, Penn held Notre Dame to a 14-14 score in the first half before faltering.

Want a Grey Cup Ducat? Eskimos Can't Fill Orders

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos, league winners in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, have a headache — how to fill the demands of Edmonton football fans for Grey Cup tickets.

Should Eskimos win the WIFU final and advance to the Grey Cup game, this will be increased to 3,240 tickets.

The first 480 eligible applic-cants have been sent yellow cards, advising them they will receive the 1,215 tickets now available if they make arrangements before Nov. 10.

After proper identification, these fans must pay for the tickets, then pick them up in person at Vancouver. The club said these precautions are being taken to assure tickets will go only to qualified fans from this area who are attending the game.

Another 724 Touchdown members received green cards, advising them if the Eskimos win the WIFU final they will receive tickets. Others will get a chance only if all the yellow and green card holders do not pick up their tickets.

JAMAICA, N.Y. (AP) — Brookmeade Stable's Sailor, at home in the sloppy going, captured the seventh running of the $38,000 Roamer Handicap at Jamaica Saturday.

Bombers Bow To Edmonton

VANCOUVER (CP) — Edmonton Wildcats, unleashing a pulverizing ground attack led by fullback Jim Shipka, defeated Vancouver Blue Bombers 33-5 here Saturday to win the Alberta-B.C. junior football championship.

The Wildcats, in winning the one-game playoff, earned the right to meet Winnipeg Rodeos for the western Canada championship. Winnipeg lost to Regina 13-12 Saturday but won their two-game total-points series 36-24.

The game here, studded with fist fights and outbursts of temper, was all Edmonton. Next comes Thursday at 6:45 p.m.

City Players Lose

Members of the Victoria Squash Club managed only one victory Saturday night as they were defeated 4-1, by Vancouver's team in the annual challenge tournament for the Heusy-Borgendale Trophy at the Sussex Hotel courts.

Dr. Kemble Greenwood defeated Harry Bell-Irving, 16-13, 17-14, 15-8 for Victoria's lone victory.

McGill Redmen, who needed a win to clinch a playoff berth, were upset Saturday 25-6 by Illinois in one of the major reversals of the Big Ten Conference football season.

Ranked No. 3 in last week's Associated Press poll of U.S. college teams, Michigan was clearly outplayed by a team which had previously won only one of its four conference games.

Meanwhile, Michigan State, with Earl Morral running 90 yards for a touchdown, moved into a second-place tie with Michigan by defeating Purdue 27-0.

Ohio State, 20-13 victors over Indiana, leads the Big Ten but is not eligible for the Rose Bowl this season since it went last year.

Thus, Michigan, which earlier in the season defeated Michigan State, needs victories in two remaining conference games against Indiana and Ohio State to assure itself of a Rose Bowl trip. Should Michigan lose one of those games while Michigan State defeats Minnesota next Saturday the trip to Pasadena will go to State.

UCLA, No. 5 team in the country and favorite to win the Pacific Coast title and Rose Bowl berth, walloped College of the Pacific 51-0.

Notre Dame, No. 6, had surprising difficulty in the first half against winless Penn before riding to a 46-14 victory. With Frank Riepel, Penn sophomore, running 105 yards for a touchdown on the opening kickoff, Penn held Notre Dame to a 14-14 score in the first half before faltering.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jack McGrath of Los Angeles was killed Sunday when his race car flipped on a turn on the 84th lap of the 100-mile Bobby Ball memorial championship auto race here.

The race, stopped in the 97th lap following another accident, was won by Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix for the second successive year. McGrath, 35, flipped when he hit a heavy shoulder.

Schedule of remaining games in the Victoria Intercollegiate Soccer League follows:

Nov. 12—Royal Roads vs. Venture at Royal Roads; Normal School vs. Vic College at Lansdowne.
Nov. 13—Vic College vs. Royal Roads School at Naden.
Nov. 14—Royal Roads vs. Normal Roads.
Dec. 1—Vic College vs. Venture at Lansdowne.
Note: The first-named team is the home team. All games will start at 2 p.m. unless arrangements are made between the two teams concerned. The game scheduled for Nov. 20 will start at 11 a.m.

JILL WON'T PRESS CHARGES AGAINST SUSAN

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Jill Jarmyn said Sunday she has changed her mind and will not seek a battery complaint against actress Susan Hayward as the result of a clothes-brush "bopping" incident in the bedroom of actor Don Red Ryder Barry. The 23-year-old television actress said she does not wish to hurt innocent parties, apparently referring to Miss Hayward's twin sons and the custody litigation between Miss Hayward, 34, and her ex-husband, actor Jess Barker. The ruckus occurred at Barry's home Thursday morning, where, Miss Jarmyn said, she was to have coffee with him. She said Miss Hayward, clad in pajamas, was there and started swinging with her with a clothes brush, causing a contusion in her left arm.

Among the 2,200 persons who filed into the red, white and gold building where U.S. State Secretary John Foster Dulles, Russian composer Dimitri Shostakovich conductor Bruno Walter, American composer Gian-Carlo Menotti and industrialist Henry Ford II.

In the top gallery, Viennese music lovers choked back tears as the orchestra sounded the overture to Beethoven's opera, "Fidelio."

Some of them had stood in line for three days in order to be in the $10,000,000 opera house, built to replace the historic building bombed out in a wartime air raid 10 years ago.

Footmen in traditional costumes opened the doors of hundreds of limousines as they rolled to the curb. Inside the building the arrivals were met by ushers in brown and gold uniforms dating back to the days of the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

The list of dignitaries included Austrian President Theodor Koerner. Other celebrities included President Max Petitpierre of Switzerland; Prince Rainier II, ruler of Monaco; Michael Tschulak, director of Moscow's Bolshoi Theatre; famed Viennese singer Lotte Lehmann; Jacques Ibert of the Paris Opera; tire tycoon Harvey Firestone; Guy and Eugen Rothchild; and Hans Nordhoff, president of West Germany's Volkswagen company.

The new opera building, like its 75-year-old predecessor, has an orchestra and four galleries. But it is equipped with some of the latest operatic gadgets.

Spirit of Old Vienna Blossoms In New $10 Million Opera House

By HUBERT HARRISON

VIENNA (Reuters) — The spirit of old Vienna blossomed anew when the Vienna State Opera house reopened Saturday night before one of the most distinguished audiences ever to attend a musical event.

A vast crowd stood in the brightly-lit square outside the opera house, listening to "Fidelio" over loudspeakers.

And throughout Vienna, the people sang and danced and celebrated in music halls, cafés and night clubs. The gaiety was reminiscent of the days of the empire.

Austrian women sported "opera" coiffures styled by Viennese hairdressers for the occasion. Bartenders served special cocktails named after opera's favorite heroes and heroines, and chefs served up such items as "crepes suzettes" and "lamb's kidneys."

The new opera building, like its 75-year-old predecessor, has an orchestra and four galleries. But it is equipped with some of the latest operatic gadgets.

Vote Postponed Year On Hospital Addition

A planned $325,000 money by-law for construction of a new 118-bed wing at Royal Jubilee Hospital will not go to the voters until December, 1956.

President of the Royal Jubilee Hospital board, Saanich Reeve Joseph Casey, announced Saturday, delay in presenting the by-law is due to new provincial regulations.

Funds and plans now must be thoroughly examined and approved by government authorities before a vote can be held.

Time is too short before the 1955 polling date and no vote on a money by-law can be taken at any other time. Thus the matter is stalled until December, 1956.

'Joan' Rescues 2 Men From Burning Fish Boat

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two men were rescued from a burning oil-laden fishpacker in the Georgia Strait, five miles from the mouth of the Fraser River, Sunday night.

The men, P. R. Bell and K. Jones were taken from the Sea Harp by the CPR passenger ship Princess Joan.

Crew of the passenger ship, bound from Victoria to Vancouver, turned fire hoses on the blazing packer after CPR Capt. G. A. Thompson pulled the Joan alongside.

Capt. Thompson steered the Joan away after one of the men on the packer shouted to him that the Sea Harp was carrying 600 gallons of diesel oil.

Bell and Jones fled the flaming ship in a dinghy, and were picked up by a lifeboat from the Princess Joan.

Earlier the 62-foot fishing vessel Point Augusta was gutted by fire off Bellingham, Wash.

Two crewmen escaped unhurt when they were picked up by another fishing boat.

The fire was apparently started by a faulty engine.

Halloween pranks proved costly for three 17-year-olds.

Each was fined $25 in Sidney RCMP juvenile court Saturday on wilful damage charges arising from damage to mailboxes at Halloween.

RCMP said several mailboxes were damaged and torn down and some were hidden. Police supervised the youths while they repaired and returned the boxes earlier this week.

Competition rifle shoot for all Victoria unit army cadets will be held Monday at 7 p.m. in Bay Street Armory.

A field craft scheme for Rainbow Sea Cadets and 4 LAA Battery Army Cadets in the Triangle Mountain area, Spokane, scheduled for the weekend, has been postponed to next weekend because of poor weather.

Train Crushes Legs Of Pillion-Seat Rider

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — Menford Pruesse, 19, lost both legs here Sunday following a motorcycle-train collision at a nearby level crossing.

Pruesse was thrown under the wheels of the train when the motorcycle on which he was riding collided with it.

Driver of the motorcycle, whose name was not immediately released by police, was thrown into a ditch and suffered only minor injuries.

Pruesse was in serious condition in hospital following amputation of both legs.

How to KEEP FIT after 50

In the old days fifty seemed the signal to slow down—take things easy—watch your diet—get more rest. It's still good advice. But these days you can keep fit with many interesting and active sports ahead, active, that is, if you can avoid backache and the "fired-out" feeling, due to kidney and bladder disorders, that often develop around that age. For more than 60 years Dodd's Kidney Pills have been helping men and women of all ages to keep kidneys and bladder in good order, helping them to feel better, to work better, and get more fun out of life. If you are approaching fifty, or past it, Dodd's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Dodd's.

Trustee Predicts Early Start On $712,000 Building Program

SIDNEY—With passage of a $712,000 school construction by-law in School District 63 Saturday, an immediate program of active work will be undertaken, a school board official said today.

Deer Hunters On Increase

NANAIMO—There has been a 50 per cent increase in the number of deer hunters here in the past year, John Kemp, president, said in a report to Nanaimo Fish and Game Club. He said 1,125 hunters had shot 81 deer as compared to the 736 last year that bagged 53 deer.

MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. has opened its lands at Northwest bay, although hunters are still subject to check at various points. Access will be extended to the end of the season.

Nanaimo members supported a notice of motion from Cowichan Game Club calling for the B.C. game commission to "set up an active committee to examine access to private logging lands."

A report on upland game birds, given by Jack Cottle, showed this year to be poor for pheasants.

Logging Road Death Found Accidental

CAMPBELL RIVER—Verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Vernon Wishart following a collision with a parked logging truck on the Salmon River Logging Co. road Oct. 27.

The jury recommended that warning flares or reflectors be carried on all road equipment operating either on public or private roads.

Herbert Larsen, truck driver, told the jury that he had parked the truck when he noted two flat tires, and placed two large cans on the road 100 feet from the truck as a warning.

The cans were plainly visible, RCMP Const. Arnold McPherson told the coroner. He said the road gave a clear view for 400 yards, and that Wishart's car had been estimated to be traveling from 20 to 30 miles per hour when the accident occurred.

Theatre Reduces Weekly Schedule

CHEMAINUS—Management of the Willow Theatre has announced that, effective today, there will be only four showings a week at the local theatre.

Overloading Trucks Draws Court Warning

SOKE — Fair warning was given by Magistrate Fred Thorner in Sooke police court Saturday against driving over-loaded trucks on public roads.

Fred Hayton, Langford, driver for Highway Sawmills, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a truck loaded two feet beyond the legal limit, and was fined $10 and costs.

"There are altogether too many overloaded trucks traveling the Sooke road, and this flagrant breaking of the law must stop," Magistrate Thorner said.

"I intend to double the fine on each case appearing before me from now on until loggers in this area take notice of the law."

Rfn. Earl Graham, QOR, Gordon Head, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving on Sooke road early Oct. 30, and was fined $35 and costs.

Graham admitted to driving at speeds of 50 and 55 miles per hour in a 30-mile zone, crossing a double white line, and crashing some 50 feet into brush before his car was brought to a stop. He and his three passengers escaped injury.

He said accident occurred during his first trip over the Sooke road.

Mr. Dale's "resignation" was announced by Russell Inkster, hospital board chairman, after a verbal clash between the administrator and chairman last week.

The five-man board backed the chairman's request that Mr. Dale be discharged. Mr. Dale was given two months' notice.

Mr. Inkster, in announcing the action, said: "Mr. Dale's resignation is the result of an unfortunate incident in which the board was called on to take a stand in backing the chairman. I deeply regret such things having to occur."

Gordon Frith, who has been assistant to Mr. Dale for the past year, will take over the post until services of a senior administrator are secured.

EARLE C. WESTWOOD

Former Mayor Seeks Office In Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Earle C. Westwood, mayor of Nanaimo between 1949 and 1952, announced Saturday he will seek election to the mayoralty in December.

Only other candidate for the post to date is Mayor George Muir.

Mr. Westwood resigned in mid-term for business reasons, and subsequently ran as a Social Credit candidate here in June, 1953. He was defeated by Dr. Larry Giovando, MLA.

Owner and operator of a funeral home, he has a total of 11 years of experience in civic affairs, and served two years as chairman of the board of School District 63.

TV Newsreel 'Finds' Stolen Car

SIDNEY—A week-end television program showed Dr. and Mrs. H. Hemmings of Sidney what had happened to their car—stolen a day earlier in Vancouver.

"That's our car," they both exclaimed when they saw a television re-enactment of the holdup Friday at a Royal Bank of Canada branch at Sixteenth and Arbutus in Vancouver.

The car was new, with only 120 miles shown on the speedometer, when it was stolen Friday. It was reported to Vancouver police, who "took no interest," according to Dr. Hemmings, and was found abandoned a few blocks from the police station.

They informed the Sidney RCMP, who in turn notified Vancouver police. Dr. Hemmings left Sunday to get the car.

Apparently the Vancouver police had recovered it soon after the robbery, but had failed to notify us," Mrs. Hemmings said.

VETERANS' GROUP SEEKS MEMBERS

The Canadian Veterans' Association of the United Kingdom is now putting on a big drive for membership among Canadian ex-service members living in the British Isles.

This virile organization gives prime service to 12,000 Canadian veterans of the First World War and 8,000 Second World War veterans now resident in the UK. It advises and assists members in the many problems of pensions, allowances, hospitalization and general welfare, in addition to arranging parades on memorial occasions in various cities, and holding religious services in cemeteries of Europe where Canadians are buried.

More than 300 new members were obtained during a membership drive last year, but at least another 500 are needed to enable the association to carry on its useful work.

RCN Marks Arrival of First 'HMC' Ship 45 Years Ago

By MONTE ROBERTS

In its year of greatest peacetime expansion, the RCN Pacific Command is today marking the 45th anniversary of its emergence as an entity separate from the Royal Navy.

On Nov. 7, 1910, HMCS Rainbow, first to be commissioned as His Majesty's Canadian ship, arrived at Esquimalt.

She had been commissioned at Portsmouth in August of that year, and on Aug. 8 received her sailing orders, the first ever given to a warship by the Canadian naval authorities. She reached Esquimalt after covering 15,000 nautical miles, coming via the Strait of Magellan.

Rainbow was then manned by a nucleus crew supplied by the Royal Navy and the Royal Fleet Reserve. The personnel were entered on loan for a period of two years, while the fleet reservists were enrolled in the Royal Canadian Navy under special service engagements of from two to five years.

Rainbow, an 11,000-ton light cruiser of the Apollo class, was purchased by the Canadian government for £50,000.

Among the ships in port when she arrived here were HMS Shearwater and the Grand Trunk Pacific steamer Prince George. She saluted the country with 28 guns on her arrival, and dressed ship, ready to receive distinguished visitors.

Commented an editorial in the Victoria Daily Times of Nov. 7, 1910: "We are pleased to welcome His Majesty's Canadian ship Rainbow to our port today. We are told in ancient literature that the first rainbow was set in the sky as a promise of things to come. So may it be with His Majesty's ship. She is a training craft only, but she is the first fruits on this coast of the Canadian naval policy, the necessary forerunner of the larger vessels which will add dignity to our name and prestige to our actions."

The end came for Rainbow on March 24, 1920, when the government announced the "obsolete and useless" training ship Rainbow, and her east coast sister, Nobe, were being replaced.

Her name, however, has been adopted by the Rainbow Sea Cadet Corps of Victoria. And today Rear Admiral Hugh F. Pullen, Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, sent a signal to all ship and shore establishments, pointing out the significance of the 45th anniversary of the arrival of the first "HMC" ship on this coast.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

On Saturday Between Times conducted its Very Own election forum, and revealed the names of its Very Own candidates.

These gentlemen are highly respected citizens of Victoria, namely Elmer Fudd, Elmer Fidd, Elmer Fidd, Elmer Fidd, Elmer Fidd and Elmer Fidd. (Messrs. Fidd and Fidd didn't get into the paper Saturday, due to space limitations, but they, too, are strong opponents of vowel play.)

Unfortunately, many constituents took umbrage at Between Times' choice of candidates. I suspect they took umbrage with a pinch of salt, but still, I must explain why I choose to endorse these particular men.

Each and every one of them has passed an aptitude test proving they are good mayoral or aldermanic material!

What other candidate can make that statement?

The aptitude test was prepared by Remie Le Goff, the eminent European political scientist whose work has done so much toward stabilizing government in France.

If YOU have a candidate you wish to add to Between Times' Very Own list, let him first pass this test:

Question N. 1: In 25 words or less, tell what you think you can do to the city of Victoria, if elected. Write your answer on the back of a ten dollar bill or a reasonable facsimile.

(If the facsimile is very reasonable, you are assured of room and board for at least five years even if not elected.)

Question N. 2: In your opinion, should the water used in the toy yacht pond at Holland Point be fluoridated?

Question N. 3: What's fluoridated, daddy?

Question N. 4: If asked to take a stand on the Point Ellice bridge, would you (a) stand on the East Side? (b) West Side? (c) all around the town? (d) jump off?

Question N. 5: If asked to provide a spanking new city hall for Victoria, would you (a) call an architect? (b) call a contractor? (c) call a finance company? (d) call a child psychiatrist? (e) make a speech against corporal punishment?

Question N. 6: If faced with a committee meeting on amalgamation, would you open your remarks saying: (a) this is a good thing, but we must move slowly. (b) this is a bad thing, but we must move slowly. (c) we must move slowly (d) greetings, Gate, let's amalgamate.

Question N. 7: When interviewed by a representative of press or radio would you preface your remarks with: (a) This is off the record . . . (b) not for publication . . . (c) don't quote me . . . (d) no comment.

Question N. 8: If elected, will you support the five-day week-end?

Question N. 9: Do you believe in Santa Claus?

Question N. 10: What was the name, again?

As M. Le Goff will be glad to prove to you, Messrs. Fudd, Fidd, Fidd, Fidd, Fidd and Fidd have passed this aptitude test with flying colors.

If you have a candidate who can do the same, I will be glad to add him to the distinguished list of Between Times' Very Own candidates.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

More than $4,300 is expected to be realized from the sale in Victoria of Remembrance Day poppies Saturday.

Campaign organizer, Harold L. Butteris, said $4,111 was collected by canvassers and another $300 may come in when the campaign is cleaned up this week.

"We had wonderful co-operation from everybody," he said. Money is used to assist veterans and widows and their dependents.

The Japanese freighter Toho Maru is at Ogden Point grain elevator today, commencing to load 8,500 tons of rapeseed to be used for vegetable oil firms in the Orient.

Rapeseed is used to make fine machine oil. Toho Maru will finish loading Wednesday or Thursday, and will discharge her cargo at Yokohama and Kobe.

William G. Ennew was sentenced to seven days or a $40 fine in police court today on charge of obstructing an officer.

Court heard that on Nov. 6 he created a disturbance in Chinatown. Approached by Constable Richard Rose, he wouldn't move from a doorway he was blocking.

"Get your hands off me," he told the policeman. He was told to "stay out of Chinatown," and replied "I don't have to."

Frederick H. A. Scott in police court today pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons—a sheath knife with a 7/8-inch blade and a switch-knife with a 4 1/2-inch blade.

When police checked him, he had the knives strapped to his leg under his coat.

He said he took the knives "from a fellow in a fight."

He was remanded to Nov. 10 for sentence.

Three-month jail term was imposed in city police court today on a mainland man, Albert Edward Spowair, 30, charged with theft under $50 from Cunningham Drug Store, Yates and Douglas, on Sunday.

Police said he stole an article from the drug store and later turned it in another for $4.47.

A record of 12 previous convictions was read in court.

Firemen Quell Downtown Fire Early Sunday

City firemen quelled a blaze of undetermined origin early Sunday morning in the basement of Vaughan's Grocery.

Victoria Electric Club: Monterey Restaurant, 12:05 p.m.; color film, "Wings to Viking Land."

Three fire trucks responded to the call.

The fire was discovered by two waitresses in Loughheed's banquet hall, above the store. They saw smoke seeping through the floor.

Firemen said the blaze was centred in a pile of cardboard boxes in the store basement. A sidewalk grating was opened to clear out acrid smoke.

Damage was believed to be not extensive.

Relatives of civil servants killed in action as well as members of the public may attend.

BUT GOLDBRICKER WILLIE WAS BROKE

City Man Helped in Historic 'Gold Lift'

By TONY DICKASON

Fifteen years ago D. W. "Willie" Taylor was stiff and sore from carrying gold.

He carried about $1,000,000 with him one day in midsummer, and was flat broke at the time.

In 1940 "Willie," now a federal forest biology ranger here—"I'm bugs about bugs"—was an RAF rigger attached to HMC Emerald, a light cruiser. Emerald was one of the many ships that helped in the biggest "gold lift" in history.

It was Churchill's idea, to move $7,000,000,000 in gold and securities to Canada from the Bank of England to keep the loot out of Nazi hands.

"Of course I was broke at the time," Willie recalled to day. "We always were, on keeper salary."

He shuttled about 20 112-pound boxes an hour aboard the vessel.

"Everybody worked. Even the officers, and the chaps in sick bay. Loading the stuff took from 12 to 15 hours."

One box was dropped by a weary sailor.

"It stayed there for 1 1/2 hours before anyone bothered to sweep up the sawdust packing. The guy left it and just got another box."

Nobody was supposed to know what the cargo was. But after this episode, they did.

During the heavy work, there were conspiratorial whispers about dumping the gold goods over the side. Anything to save the back-breaking toll.

Once under way, the talk started again. But this time as to how a guy could conceal a bar of gold, and how to get rid of it once he had it?

Nothing, of course, happened.

Rumors flew thick. One theory was that the Bank of England was starting a branch in Canada, and the heavy yellow stuff was needed to start the cash registers clicking.

"Willie," who likes his work, went to sea aboard a Norwegian freighter fresh from high school.

"I was 50 miles out before I found out nobody spoke English." From there he bounced to the RAF.

He said today regarding the baled bullion: "Money isn't everything. I hate boats anyway."

Mr. Howard then suggested the only reason no appeal was made by MacMillan Bloedel on the licence involved, was that "you wanted to get a contract signed with the government for licences 20 and 21 before you opened your mouth."

"I didn't think of it," replied Mr. MacMillan.

Mr. Howard closed his cross-examination by asking "If all holders of forest management licences in this province were willing to surrender their licences, would you?"

"No," said Mr. MacMillan.

Mr. Howard then asked whether a general cancellation of all licences would affect the operations of MacMillan Bloedel.

"It certainly would," was the reply. Mr. MacMillan adjested that his firm is borrowing and spending a "lot of money" on the basis of the contract.

Q.—Was May 24 a celebrated holiday in Victoria in 1907?

M.—Yes. The holiday came on Friday. Next day the Daily Times recorded the growing success of Victoria's spring celebration thus: "The number of visitors in the city exceeded the total of any previous year."

Q.—After whom or what was Brandon, Man., named?—F. L. A.—That prairie city 132 miles west of Winnipeg, on the Assiniboine River, took its name from Brandon House, a Hudson's Bay Company post on the Assiniboine River founded in 1794.

Burglars Get Cash; Safe-Cracker Fails

Health Post Filled After 16 Months

H. R. MacMillan, Lawyer Clash At Forest Probe

$200 Stolen In Breaks-Ins

Burglars were active in the city and Saanich on the weekend.

Cash was taken from a private home and a canteen at Gordon Head Army Camp.

Saanich police said a thief ransacked the home of Mrs. L. Hooper, 3250 Richmond, while she was away and made off with $150 cash.

About $50 cash was stolen from a canteen at Gordon Head camp. Police are investigating and details were not available.

An attempted safe-cracking overnight at Home Oil offices on Huron Street was reported to city police.

Detectives found the premises had been entered by breaking a window.

A dial was knocked off a vault and an attempt had been made to punch the tumblers back. When that failed the thieves took an electric drill from an adjoining warehouse and drilled four holes in the face of the safe, but still could not open the vault.

Company workers reported that nothing was stolen.

Rescue Tug 1,000 Miles From Objective

The Island Tug & Barge Ltd.'s deep-sea salvage tug Sudbury has steamed to within 1,000 miles of the stricken Greek freighter Macedonia, which is drifting helplessly in the North Pacific.

Sudbury has covered more than two-thirds of the long rescue bid, which may develop into the longest salvage tow on record.

The tug, which left Prince Rupert Monday to churn off a steady 12 knots in the race to the freighter's aid, has been instructed to tow Macedonia to Vancouver, a distance of more than 3,500 miles. The tow is expected to take at least 20 days.

CURRENT HELPS

Macedonia, aided by the prevailing current, has been drifting eastward at about two knots, thus helping narrow the gap separating her from the tug.

Macedonia has been without power since having tail shaft trouble Monday. She radioed for aid, and the owner's agents in New York commissioned Sudbury to make the rescue attempt.

Original estimate of the time of meeting was Friday or Saturday, and Sudbury appears to be keeping close to schedule as she skirts the Aleutian Islands on her long voyage west.

Paul Carrier, 1106 Balmoral, was fined $250 or 20 days in jail

Give Gloves Special Care With No-Rinse Glove Bath

By PENNY SAVER

Weep no more, my ladies, for your long-lost suede and kid gloves. Probably the reason why they "are no more" is that they didn't receive the proper attention and handling when being washed. I know how it feels to gingerly swish a pair of soft, pastel French kid gloves in gentle, lukewarm water, only to stand there and watch the color drain from them. Why? Because I used soap, like most women do, to shampoo the pampered leather. I said "used" . . . past tense. I've invested in some glove bath, which is ideal for leather, wool, cotton, nylon and silk. After a shampoo with this effervescent glove bath all your gloves will take on a new "just-bought" look.

It comes in foil packages. Each package is sufficient for one "bath." How does it work? Dissolve the contents in one quart of lukewarm water. Next, suds the gloves up and down as you would a hankie. Add additional warm water and continue sudsing until the dirt is removed. Squeeze the water from the gloves and then blow them into. Easily washed, they have a very expensive look about them, but cost just $9.95. ★ ★

With youngsters giving their clothes plenty of hard use at school and play, cuffs or jackets, sweaters, coats and ski pants and snow suits wear out pretty quickly.

When this happens, it doesn't mean the end of that garment's life. Not when you can replace the cuffs so easily. For just 39 cents per wash . . . not much when you consider the price of a good pair of gloves, a pair that could be ruined by one wrong washing. Now your pastel and light colored pigtails gloves as well as all other accessory gloves can have a new and longer life at low cost. ★ ★

On to the frivolous side of life. What I'm about to tell you about is both frivolous and practical. Yes, it's possible to combine the two. They're corduroy tapered lounging slacks. You've seen them . . . they reach just below the calf of the leg, and

Successful Church Bazaar Opened by Mrs. Hutchison

More than $1,600 was realized at a successful bazaar held Saturday by the Women's Auxiliary to Metropolitan United Church. Mrs. Bruce Hutchison, wife of the noted author and editor of the Victoria Daily Times, opened the affair. She was introduced by Mrs. A. M. Holder, convener, who in turn was introduced by the president, Mrs. H. L. Campbell.

The hall and the assembly rooms were beautifully decorated with festive-seasons greenery. Strikingly arranged on the walls of the hall where tea was served, were enormous candycanes and reindeer and poinssettias against cedar and pine tree branches.

Trimly dressed girls of the CGIT served as baby-sitters and helped with tea. Young People and Grace James Mission circle handled the miscellaneous stalls and the Tuxis boys worked in the parcel checking booth and sold Christmas cards.

One event which attracted a great deal of attention was the doll auction. A beautiful doll with a wardrobe handmade by

Young Boys Should Be Fickle When Dating

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

Young teen-age boys are and should be fickle, as far as girls are concerned. If they concentrate on one girl, they never really get to know others well enough to know what type of woman they want to marry.

(Q)—"I am a junior in high school and have always been considered 'popular' by my classmates. However, I find it much harder to hold the friendship of boys than of girls. The boys date a girl for a few weeks, then find another who attracts them, and drop the first girl for this new one. I can't understand why boys are so fickle. This happens to all my friends and we are concerned about it. Is the trouble with us or with the boys?"—P. T.

(A)—The only trouble with you and your friends is that you are expecting young teen-age boys to behave like adult men. They are too young and inexperienced to be able to do this. They are "acting their ages" and that is all you can expect of them.

Because girls mature earlier than boys, they tend to be more mature in their behavior than boys of the same age. Furthermore, because girls must wait to be asked for dates, they have a tendency to cling to boys more than boys want to cling to girls.

It is wise for both boys and girls during high school years to go with a number of young people and not concentrate on any one person. In this way, they get to know the characteristics of many different people and discover what they like or dislike in both boys and girls.

* A boy who is "fickle" is exploring the field and discovering his likes and dislikes. Often, when he drops one girl for another, he will discover he does not like her as well as the one he has just dropped. Then he goes back to the first girl. Don't be concerned if you cannot hold the friendship of boys. Very few teen-age girls can.

Dr. Hurlock will answer your personal questions. Address her in care of this newspaper.

St. John Corps Bazaar Realizes Sum of $670

Victoria Nursing Corps fall bazaar, held Saturday at St. John Ambulance Brigade headquarters, 715½ View Street, was opened by Mrs. Frank Ross, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia. She was received by Mrs. E. V. Harwood, superintendent, No. 2 Area, Vancouver Island, and Mrs. E. L. Rogers, superintendent of Victoria Nursing Corps. With Mrs. Ross was Miss Ruth MacLean.

A special guest was Miss Phyllis Munday, provincial superintendent, who came from Vancouver for the bazaar. A sum of $670.24 was realized.

Outstanding in a variety of stalls arranged in the gaily decorated hall was the Red Riding Hood clothes line with dolls all dressed in knitted garments and with many other wardrobes for dolls of all sizes, made and arranged by Mrs. M. H. Aitkin, nursing officer of the Victoria Nursing Corps.

Cadets had a stall of toys and the Crusader Nursing Division, a large array of plants and garden ornaments. Mrs. M. Rogers was in charge of a drawing for an Indian sweater, donated by Dr. Bell, corps surgeon.

Victoria nursing division No. 61 under supervision of Mrs. M. Bell had a large supply of home cooking and Christmas cakes. Miss Madge Wall made the centre.

Mrs. Claude Harrison drew for the tombola and the prizes were donated by Standard Furniture, the T. Eaton Co., and some were made by members of the St. John Ambulance Division No. 65.

Denton Holmes Nursing Division No. 148 had a large array of aprons suitable for every occasion, under the supervision of Mrs. Lillie Sinclair, superintendent.

The Oak Bay stall was filled with miscellaneous articles and some very fine books, under the supervision of Mrs. E. Humble, superintendent.

The cadets were under the supervision of Miss Mary Lou Findler, of Victoria Cadet Nursing Division No. 61, Miss Isabel Pearce of Denton Holmes Cadet Nursing Division No. 148c, Miss Georgina Walker, of the Oak Bay Cadet Nursing Division No. 176c and Mrs. Margaret Aikin of the Pemberton Crusader Nursing Division No. 210.

Mrs. S. W. Muirhead, chairman of the St. John Auxiliary and her members served tea on the third floor.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Are you on a diet or thinking about one? So many diets include clear consomme soup that dieters must be tired of hearing the word. Dr. Sylvia Lourie, who conducts a beauty school for Helena Rubinstein suggests a herbal bouillon that sounds different. Here is her recipe:

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

If your kitchen is roomy and you'd like to save steps when you're working alone, see if you can arrange to attach a drop leaf to the right bit of wall space or to the side of a lower cupboard you don't use too often. A well-spaced working surface will save miles!

Because carrying a handbag is such a reflex action with women, it's a good way to remind yourself of things. A string and note tied across the handles of your waiting-to-go-out bag is a vastly more effective reminder than a string on the finger.

Need help with your eyes? Keep this in mind: an oculist or ophthalmologist is an MD who specializes in eye trouble. An optometrist is a non-medical man who measures eye errors and prescribes glasses and exercises. An optician is a man who grinds glasses, fits them into frames and fits frames to you.

Troubled with getting to sleep at night? Try this for a good long while. No matter when you go to sleep last night, hop out of bed the next day at the exact same time. Don't cheat. Let you get to sleep early after a while of this.

Stockings with a larger number, which means coarser yarn, will snag more easily than the finer-yarned ones, but they run less easily. It depends upon which you do to stockings most frequently.

HERBAL BOUILLON

Carrots, one leek, one onion, kohlrabi (if desired), celery, one turnip, chopped parsley.

If you enjoy the taste of the following vegetables they may be added:

Fresh tomato, spinach, string beans.

These vegetables must be all fresh . . . not canned or frozen. Prepare vegetables and place in pot using only enough water to cover. Boil rapidly for a few minutes and then simmer until vegetables are very soft. Drain, but do not use sieve, as the bouillon should be clear. Use very little salt.

Honeymoon in Alberta

A honeymoon trip to Edmonton, Banff and Jasper was enjoyed by newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gould Giles, whose marriage took place recently in St. Luke's Church. The bride is the former Miss Vera Winnifred Hearn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Hearn, 1661 McRae Avenue, and her groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney R. Giles, 1666 Ruby Road. Mr. and Mrs. Giles are now living at 1848 Feltham Road.

MRS. ROSS TO ATTEND

Festival of Decorations In Pre-Christmas Week

Of interest to all who love the color and glitter of the Christmas season is the announcement that the Women's Auxiliary to the Family and Children's Service will again sponsor a festival of Christmas decorations in the Georgian lounge at the Empress Hotel on Dec. 14 from 2 until 9:30 p.m.

Mrs. Frank Mackenzie Ross, OBE, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, will attend in the evening and present the prizes.

This special event, a highlight on the pre-Christmas week program in Victoria, will again feature artistic Yuletide arrangements for mantels, doors, tables, also miniature trees and novelty decorative effects created by artistic Victorians for the Yuletide season.

A new students' class has been added this year that will include entries from home economics classes in Greater Victoria.

Conveners of the festival are Miss Lola Maxwell, Mrs. W. A. Atherton and Miss Elizabeth Forbes.

Winners in various classes are declared by popular vote. First and second prizes are presented as well as rose bowls for perpetual competition. Displays may be entered in any or all of the various classes. Further information and entry forms may be obtained through Miss Maxwell, 3-6759 or Mrs. Atherton, 3-2106.

Tickets for the event may be obtained from any member of the auxiliary or through Mrs. Campbell Sanson, 4-7553, or Mrs. E. W. Mackenzie, 2-2583.

Proceeds from the festival will be used this year to assist in furnishing a new home for mentally disturbed children that has recently been opened by the Family and Children's Service.

Confederation Tea

At recent meeting of Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, IODE, Mrs. R. L. Brain presided and final arrangements were made for the annual Confederation Day tea and bazaar to be held on Nov. 19 in the Orange Hall, Courtney Street. Mrs. Claude Harrison will open the affair at 3 p.m. Convener is Mrs. Bertha Parsons and arranging bazaar stalls for fancywork, aprons, white elephant and home cooking will be Mrs. J. Morrison, Mrs. G. Ringwood, Mrs. A. Warrender, Mrs. F. Parsons, Mrs. F. Smith, Mrs. Swire Mitchell, Mrs. A. McAllister and Mrs. A. Williams.

In Honor Of the Bride

Miss Wendy Spicer, Kent, England, whose marriage to Mr. Patrick Lake, Durban, South Africa, is to take place next week, was honored at a grocery shower given by her bridesmaid, Miss Maureen Quigg at her home on Dunlevy Street. A corsage of bronze chrysanthemums was presented to the bride-elect, and many useful gifts were concealed in a box decorated in pink and white crepe paper. Refreshments were served from a table covered with an Irish lace cloth, with a centerpiece of red and white chrysanthemums. Guests were Mrs. E. King, Mrs. R. O'Meara, Mrs. J. H. Quigg, Mrs. J. Jasper, Mrs. J. Hubbard, Mrs. P. Bigelow, Mrs. E. McAllister, Miss Joan Smith and Miss Gail O'Meara.

The good wishes and gifts of many friends were sent off to Wheaton, Ill., to Mrs. Jamie Ney, the former Miss Marie Allan of Victoria, following a layette shower held by proxy by Miss Sally Ney at her home, 3074 Oakdene Road. The many gifts were brought to the party unwrapped, prepared for mailing by guests, then placed in a basinet. Guests were Mrs. R. O. Ney, Mrs. Cliff Salmon, Mrs. Frank Wills, Mrs. Ken Richards, Misses Margot Brown, Colleen Miller, Patricia Perry, Doreen Robbie, Diana Elsdon and Mary Dickinson.

Wedding Guests

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Saul came from Vancouver to attend the wedding of Miss Adair Stinson and Mr. David Lake, Saturday evening. Also from Vancouver was Mrs. Frank White, and from Gabriola Island, Miss Flora Fraser.

At B.C. House

Mrs. M. K. Allen, Esquimalt, B.C., was the only Victorian to sign the register at British Columbia House, London, Eng., in the past 10 days.

White Satin Bridal Gown Worn by Saturday's Bride

Miss Shirley Ozilda Annie Goyette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Goyette, 765 Hillside Avenue, became the bride of Peter Hubert Joseph Scheeren, son of Mrs. C. Lennartz, Simperville, Holland, and the late Mr. J. Scheeren, in a ceremony in St. Andrew's Cathedral, Saturday evening. Father M. Costeloe performed the ceremony, while Mrs. M. McKay played traditional organ music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and chose a floor-length bridal gown of white satin, fashioned with long sleeves and three-foot train. The yoke was styled with lace and rhinestones. A princess style headress held her floor-length veil. Her flowers were white carnations and a mauve orchid tied with white satin ribbon. A triple strand of pearls, a gift of the groom, was her only jewelry.

Maid of honor, Miss Roberta Goldie, wore a pale mauve ankle length dress with lace jacket and matching head band. She carried a bouquet of pale yellow carnations. Bridesmaid, Miss Sylvia Thomas, chose a pale blue ankle length dress with matching jacket and headband and carried pale pink carnations.

D. Brock and R. Vanderbyl stood with the groom, while the bride's brothers, Arnold S. Goyette and Allen P. Goyette, were ushers.

A wedding cake, a gift of Mr. Brodie, employer of the bride and groom, centred the bride's table at the reception which followed at the Golden Slipper Ballroom. W. Grunow, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast to her happiness.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to Harrison Hot Springs, the bride chose a fawn colored suit with an oxford grey top-coat and black accessories. Her corsage was a mauve orchid.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Scheeren will live at 765 Hillside Avenue.

Adair Stinson, David Lake Wed At Royal Oak Saturday Evening

While the organ played softly, wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Colleen Adair Stinson and David Edwin Lake in St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church, Royal Oak. Fall-toned flowers and white chrysanthemums formed the background for the Saturday evening ceremony performed by Rev. N. J. Godkin.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O. Stinson, 4520 West Saanich Road, Royal Oak, chose a gown of imported illusion net, appliqued with points of French lace over nylon tulle and satin. The bouffant skirt was slightly in train, while the bodice was slim, featuring small cap sleeves and a scoop neckline finished with scalloped lace over illusion net. Her fingertip veil of French illusion net with hand rolled edge was caught by a lacey shell of nylon mohair touched with iridescent sequins. She carried a crescent of Talisman roses and white carnations.

Gowned in a rosewood shot taffeta ballerina-length dress, Miss Donna M. Butcher was maid of honor. She carried a bouquet of red-bronze chrysanthemums. Miss Judy Wilson was flower girl, in a gold shot taffeta frock with full skirt cascading from a scalloped bodice. Bronze chrysanthemums were in the basket she carried.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Lake, 414 Durban street, had Jack Muirhead as best man, and Ross Stinson, brother of the bride, and Colin Corbett as ushers.

Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall was decorated with fall flowers for the reception. Mrs. Stinson, in a brown dress with champagne and brown accessories and pink rose corsage and Mrs. Lake, in a rose-toned dress with navy accessories and cream rose corsage, assisted in receiving guests. E. K. Saul, Vancouver, proposed the toast to the fair-haired bride.

For her going-away outfit, the new Mrs. Lake wore a pale green knitted suit with dark brown accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Following a honeymoon spent touring the interior of the province, Mr. and Mrs. Lake will make their home at Allison Pass, on the Hope-Princeton Highway.

Miss Val Brown, 23, has recently completed an eight-week training course as an air stewardess at BOAC's Catering Training School, Heston, Eng., and will shortly be making her first flight on the corporation's Constellation routes to Africa or the Far East. Miss Brown, a Canadian, was born in Victoria, B.C. She was educated at Victoria High School, after which she spent two years training as a radiographer. Following this training she was on the staff of St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria, for a year before sailing for England, where she had obtained a position with the University College Hospital, London. She remained there from December, 1953, until she joined the BOAC last September. She has already travelled quite extensively since she arrived in England, having been on holiday in Italy, Austria, Holland and France. In her spare time Miss Brown likes ice-skating, badminton and dancing. Her mother, Mrs. E. Smith, and her step-father live at 316 Cook Street, in Victoria.

Miss Val Brown, 23, has recently completed an eight-week training course as an air stewardess at BOAC's Catering Training School, Heston, Eng., and will shortly be making her first flight on the corporation's Constellation routes to Africa or the Far East. Miss Brown, a Canadian, was born in Victoria, B.C. She was educated at Victoria High School, after which she spent two years training as a radiographer. Following this training she was on the staff of St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria, for a year before sailing for England, where she had obtained a position with the University College Hospital, London. She remained there from December, 1953, until she joined the BOAC last September. She has already travelled quite extensively since she arrived in England, having been on holiday in Italy, Austria, Holland and France. In her spare time Miss Brown likes ice-skating, badminton and dancing. Her mother, Mrs. E. Smith, and her step-father live at 316 Cook Street, in Victoria.

Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall was decorated with fall flowers for the reception. Mrs. Stinson, in a brown dress with champagne and brown accessories and pink rose corsage and Mrs. Lake, in a rose-toned dress with navy accessories and cream rose corsage, assisted in receiving guests. E. K. Saul, Vancouver, proposed the toast to the fair-haired bride.

For her going-away outfit, the new Mrs. Lake wore a pale green knitted suit with dark brown accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Following a honeymoon spent touring the interior of the province, Mr. and Mrs. Lake will make their home at Allison Pass, on the Hope-Princeton Highway.

Who, Me?

Attorney-General Herbert Brownell enjoys a hearty laugh after being reminded by a newsman in Denver that he had just successfully evaded the question on his possible candidature as president in 1956. (NEA photo.)

HOLDUPS

"I said, 'Oh, we've been expecting this.' He warned me to stand back from the counter."

The bandit was described as about 25 or 26 years old, clean shaven, pasty-faced and fair-haired. He was wearing a brown hip-length jacket and appeared shabby.

SAME TACTICS

The man struck in the same manner as the gunman who held up Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd. of about $480 three weeks ago and disappeared in downtown crowds.

Mr. Shafoval described the man who robbed him as about six feet tall, 180 pounds, sandy-colored hair and he was wearing a red mustache which appeared false.

Mr. Shafoval said the man just walked in and said "It's a nice day isn't it."

"When I turned around he had a gun in one hand and a bag in the other. He said 'Don't holler. Get that money in the cash register.'

Mr. Shafoval said the gun definitely was not an automatic but looked like a Colt revolver. "It was a big gun," he said.

Mr. Kee said his attacker was masked with a black handkerchief with eye holes cut in it.

SCREAMED

"I just came down stairs and he hit me. I screamed at him because I thought maybe he would hit again," Mr. Kee told reporters.

The attacker fled through a front door.

Esquimalt police found a four-foot-long ladder propped against a side window of the two-story building.

Mr. Kee could not get a good look at the man in the darkness.

Meanwhile RCMP at Campbell River remain on the watch for a youthful hold-up man who tried unsuccessfully Friday night to rob a Campbell River motorist.

He was described as a slight youth of 18 or 19 years, with a "mop" of fair hair and "smallish" features, wearing blue jeans and a black leather "slicker."

He was picked up in Campbellton, and at Willow Point, three miles south of here, drew a gun and demanded money from the driver.

The driver refused, and after a scuffle the youth fled for nearby bush. The driver, who has not been identified by RCMP, returned to Campbell River to report the incident.

Dominion Track Venues Decided

SASKATOON (CP) — Hamilton and Montreal have been awarded the majority of Canada's 1956 track and field competitions at the annual convention of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada Friday.

Montreal was allotted the senior indoor track meet and the junior men, midget boys, and inter-scholastic events, and Olympic and marathon trials.

The juvenile boys, the juvenile and midget girls' events were awarded to the Saskatchewan branch and will probably be held in Saskatoon. Canada's five-event pentathlon will be held in Winnipeg.

No Sale for Dick

MONTRAL (BUP) — Frank Selke, managing director of the Montreal Canadiens, disclosed today that he had received no offers for left winger Dick Gamble.

The Canadiens were unsuccessful in their bid to trade Gamble to Boston for Marcel Bonin during the week-end. Stelke said, but he said he would do his best to keep the one-time rookie sensation in the National Hockey League rather than send him to one of the Canadiens' farm teams.

UFAWU Rejects Company Offer

Herring fishermen and tendermen have voted by a majority of over 89 per cent to reject a new price offer made by the Fisheries Association of $12.60 per ton of herring.

A meeting of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union also rejected a company proposal regarding formation of herring seine pools and a proposal to increase engineers' bonuses by $10 per month.

While the question of fleet limitation has now been settled, there is no full settlement in sight as yet. The union negotiating committee has reduced its price proposals to $13.12 per ton, which works out to $1.05 per man per ton of herring. The gap between the union and the company amounts to 52½ per ton or 4 1/2c per man per ton.

Negotiations resumed at 2 p.m. today.

SERIES BY HIS VALET

Hitler's Private Life

"I gave him a noseful," Hitler gloated after "double-cross" interview with Britain's Chamberlain at Munich in 1938.

By HEINZ LINGE, Hitler's Personal Valet

(World Copyright 1955)

BERLIN — Perhaps Joachim von Ribbentrop did help me mislead Adolf Hitler about English opinion. I remember now the mutterings heard around the Chancellery when the story reached Berlin about von Ribbentrop giving a Nazi salute in the presence of King George V. Many of the staff described it as "bad manners," but the incident left Hitler himself completely unmoved.

At that time, von Ribbentrop could do no wrong. In Hitler's eyes, von Ribbentrop was testing the British to see if Lloyd George's remarks on Britain's war weariness and fear and hatred of any future war was fair comment.

Just about the same time as the court incident, a news film showing the King and Queen on the balcony of Buckingham Palace was flown to Germany and shown to Hitler. In the film, the Queen raised her right arm to salute the crowd standing outside the palace.

"You see, Linge," the Fuehrer leaned over to remark, "the Queen of England is giving our salute. Perhaps they are on the way to our way of thinking."

In 1935, Hitler still seemed extremely sensitive to foreign comment and opinion in the sense that he studied it closely. Besides watching the newsreels, he read translations of the major speeches by foreign statesmen.

Die Cast in 1937

I think he had made up his mind by 1937 to conquer Europe by force if necessary, and nothing was likely to change his policy thereafter.

Any doubts I might have had were removed completely in 1938, when Chamberlain flew from England to see the Fuehrer in his flat, in Munich in mid-September.

I handed Chamberlain his hat and coat, and stepped back as they said goodbye at the door of the flat. When the door had closed, Hitler turned to me and said with a strange exultation in his voice:

"Isn't it wonderful, Linge! The prime minister, an old man,

"F99"

SKIN TROUBLES

Eczema, Leg Ulcers, Baby's Rash

Painful and distressing skin complaints, even of many years duration, need not be endured. "F99" has proven an outstandingly successful, no person presently suffering from these distressing complaints should neglect undergoing treatment. Even delicate babies' skin, raw from chafing and similar causes, is instantly soothed and protected.

Discovered in Switzerland after years of extensive research, "F99" has since played such an important part in the treatment of eczemas and other skin complaints, a specially processed concentrate is being shipped to all parts of the world.

"F99" is the only product that contains the two vital substances for the skin—Linoleic and Linolenic Acids, commonly referred to as "Unsaturated Fatty Acids."

Your skin, like many other parts of the body, depends upon certain nutrients derived from the food we eat. When the system is incapable of extracting these nutrients, illness, infirmities, and even death may result. In the case of an "Unsaturated Fatty Acid" deficiency, the normal functions of the skin are hindered and ugly sores develop.

To offer this deficiency, "F99" contains the "Unsaturated Fatty Acids" in Capsulated form for internal use, additionally, in Ointment and Lotion form for external application. Treatment with "F99", therefore, affords both internal and external absorption.

We in Canada are fortunate in having a fully equipped Laboratory exclusively for the production of the "F99" product. It applies to all parts of the body, through all Druggists from Victoria, B.C., to St. John's, Newfoundland. Consult your Druggist today about the "F99" Products and get a free Illustrated Booklet, or write to:

waving a piece of paper in the air as he stepped from the plane to say that he was satisfied there would be peace.

TOO STRONG TO CARE

As we left the projection room, Hitler was smiling.

"That was Chamberlain's view," he said. "But, Linge, we are marching straight on."

One year later, Hitler was saying:

"England will not worry about Poland, Linge. They did nothing about Czechoslovakia. They will do nothing now."

Looking back, I feel sure that September, 1939, even if Hitler knew then England would fight, it would not have deterred him. By then he felt Germany was too strong to care.

When the British and French governments made protests, during the first days of September, he said:

"I expected them, Linge. Words, words, words. You will see that there will be no war. But my plans will not be altered now whatever they do."

"When the guns are speaking, the words of the diplomat can be put aside."

Hitler didn't want war with Britain. He was convinced that Britain had neither the ability nor the desire to fight another European nation.

A few days later, we watched a newsreel of Chamberlain's return to London. We saw him

DELIBERATE DECEPTION

To me, the remark about the "noseful" meant that he had convinced Chamberlain he had no intention of disturbing the peace of Europe. There is no doubt about it; the word "double cross" describes what he did at that meeting.

Hitler, I must say, believed he was doing his patriotic duty for Germany when he deliberately deceived Chamberlain. But he did so believing that in any case Britain would be glad of an excuse to avoid indulging in another war.

Hitler didn't want war with Britain. He was convinced that Britain had neither the ability nor the desire to fight another European nation.

Hold-Ups, Slugging Carried Out By Different Men, Police Say

4-FOR-75c BUS FARE APPROVED FOR SEATTLE

SEATTLE (AP)—Seattle's financially hard-pressed City Transit System announced Saturday fares will be boosted to 75 cents, or 18½ cents apiece, next Sunday. They have been 3 for 50 cents.

The boost follows the recently-announced 14-cent increase in operators' hourly pay. No changes will be made in the present 20-cent cash fare.

Last Oakalla Escapee Recaptured by Police

CP and BUP Dispatches

VANCOUVER—The last of four armed convicts who shot their way out of Oakalla prison farm Friday was recaptured early today.

Robert Lewis, 24, serving a 30-year sentence for bank robbery, gave up without a struggle when three police officers cornered him in a west end alley.

He had one cent in his pockets, was still wearing prison clothing, and was "dirty and exhausted," police said.

His capture, less than 60 hours after he and three others broke out of the suburban prison, ended one of the most intense manhunts in recent Vancouver history.

At the peak of the hunt, shortly after Lewis, John Wasylchenko, Harold Coulter and Carl LaVictoire escaped, more than 500 prison guards, RCMP and other police were in the search.

GAVE UP QUIETLY

Wasylchenko surrendered early Sunday to RCMP officers. He was spotted standing on busy Kingsway street by Oakalla employee Roland Uncles.

Police tracked him to bush where he gave up quietly.

Wasylchenko was dressed in clean warm clothing and had recently shaved.

He told police he huddled underneath a pile of lumber as police, prison guards and an RCMP tracking dog swarmed within a few feet of him Saturday.

Coulter and LaVictoire were captured, also without struggle, less than an hour after their Friday afternoon escape.

Lumsden Married; Marilyn Maid of Honor

TORONTO (CP)—Clifford Douglas Lumsden, long distance swimmer who splashed to $25,000 in prize money in the 22-mile Canadian National Exhibition marathon swim last summer, was married Saturday in suburban New Toronto.

His bride is Joan Christine Cooke, the girl who cheered him from his boat during the grueling swim.

Long distance swimmer Marilyn Bell was maid of honor at the wedding held in Century United Church.

9 in Hospital After Week-End Car Crashes

Six Injured In Collision

Six persons injured in a grinding, head-on accident early Sunday in Saanich were among nine persons hospitalized in a rash of week-end accidents.

Most seriously injured in the Saanich crash at Gorge and Harriet was 17-year-old Beverley Jones, 2375 Blackwood.

Hospital authorities reported 53 stitches were required to close facial cuts the girl suffered. She was reported in "good" condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today.

DRIVER CHARGED

Driver of one of the cars, Kenneth Nelson Kerr, 1705 Ross, who escaped uninjured, was remanded to Thursday without plea in Saanich police court today on a charge of criminally negligent driving. He is free on $500 bail.

Others injured in the spectacular crash were:

Miss S. Buttrey, 1960 Ash, lacerations, facial cuts and shock. She is also in "good" condition at hospital.

Mrs. A. Rawcliff, Amity Drive, Saanichton, shock, leg abrasions and a bump to the head. Her condition is "good."

Pearl Murray, 1902 Fort, neck injury, shock and lacerations. She is in "good" condition.

Lorne Saunders, 989 Island Highway, cuts and bruises. He also is in "good" condition.

Mrs. A. Rawcliff, Amity Drive, Saanichton, shock, leg abrasions and a bump to the head. Her condition is "good."

Pearl Murray, 1902 Fort, neck injury, shock and lacerations. She is in "good" condition.

Lorne Saunders, 989 Island Highway, cuts and bruises. He also is in "good" condition.

Three men were killed near here during the week-end, two in a logging accident and one when hit by a train.

Ernest Rivard, 19, and Larry Jeannot, 21, died together at Alta Lake, B.C., when struck by a log which dislodged from a cold deck pile. Inquest has been set for Nov. 14.

Simon Smith of Creekside, B.C., died in hospital here late Sunday night of extensive head injuries suffered when he was hit by a northbound PGE freight earlier the same day.

Police said he was on a street when a car driven by David Welch, 1181 View, backed out of a driveway and knocked the lad down.

UN Truce Team Inundated by Gaza Protests

JERUSALEM (AP)—A new shower of charges of violations of the Pal-Syria armistice confronted peacekeepers today in the troubled Middle East.

They included an Israeli declaration that Egyptian troops were entrenched in the demilitarized zone of the Egyptian Sinai, constituting a long-standing violation and a threat to civilian life.

The spokesman said "prohibited numbers" of troops were in the zone, opposite the scene of last week's bloody El Sabra clash, where the armistice agreement permits only three Egyptian checkpoints with a total of 30 soldiers. Israel also accused Egypt of a new raid near the Gaza strip.

When I saw him I asked what is this?"

"He kept saying 'This is a hold-up. Give me the money. Hurry up, hurry up!'"

He was just standing there in the lane, tired, wet, cold and hungry."

The quartet fled the prison after an afternoon exercise period, held a gun on two officers and stole a gun and a car from another guard.

A civilian in the prison parking lot used his own car to ram the getaway vehicle.

Russians Invited To Trade Pact Talks

BY VICTOR MACKIE

Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—A Canadian redraft of the proposed trade agreement between Russia and Canada was forwarded to Moscow last week along with an invitation to the Russian government to send negotiators to Ottawa, it was learned from informed sources today.

The trade officials of the U.S.S.R. government will study the Canadian redraft and are expected to send a delegation to Ottawa before the year-end.

The Russians had submitted the draft of a trade agreement between the two countries to Hon. L. B. Pearson, secretary of state for external affairs, before he left the U.S.S.R. It has been under study in Canada's capital and the redraft has now been completed and forwarded to Moscow.

MEANINGLESS

The proposed trade agreement takes into consideration the fact that the Communist country does not have tariff arrangements such as are in effect in Canada. As a result for Canada to negotiate simply a most favored nation treaty would be practically meaningless.

The tariff agreement will probably take similar form to a trade agreement negotiated between Russia and Canada in 1938. The Second World War prevented that deal becoming operative.
